Salem Year

One day early in the fall of 1940, one hundred and ninety three boys and girls entered the doors of Salem High school, ready to start their last year of high school.

Throughout the fall, winter and spring we have seen these students engaging in the activities common to these seasons.

Now comes the summer with its warm days and the close of another school year. Now comes the end of the public school education for those one hundred and ninety three boys and girls.

Associated with the close of the school year, is the publication of the school year-book, the Quaker.

Herewith we present to you, our readers, the Quaker for 1941. It shows and tells of the work and play of the students of Salem High School from the opening of school in fall to the commencement and the close of school in the summer.

We have tried hard to make this book one worthy of being kept and treasured and take great pride and pleasure in presenting the Quaker Annual for 1941.

Dedication

Selection of a yearbook Dedicatee requires much thought on the part of those making the choice since it is necessary to find a person held high in the esteem of the student body and one known to be a willing worker and a friend to the students.

Because as a teacher she works hard to get across to those in the Spanish classes the fundamentals of the language and still make the subject interesting; because as Spanish Club adviser she is willing to take extra time to make it an interesting club; because as a senior home room teacher she willingly helps the seniors in their class projects—because of all these things we feel that we made a wise choice in deciding to dedicate the 1941 Quaker Annual to Miss Mildred Hollett.

Contents

Part one presents pictures and accounts of the autumn activities, title page, presentation, dedication and contents, followed by pictures of the educational leaders, Board of Education and faculty. Then comes the junior, sophomore and freshman classes, followed by the senior play cast. Going on we come to a page containing pictures of our stadium, the football girl and the school cheerleaders. The varsity football, junior varsity football, and cross country squads are then presented.

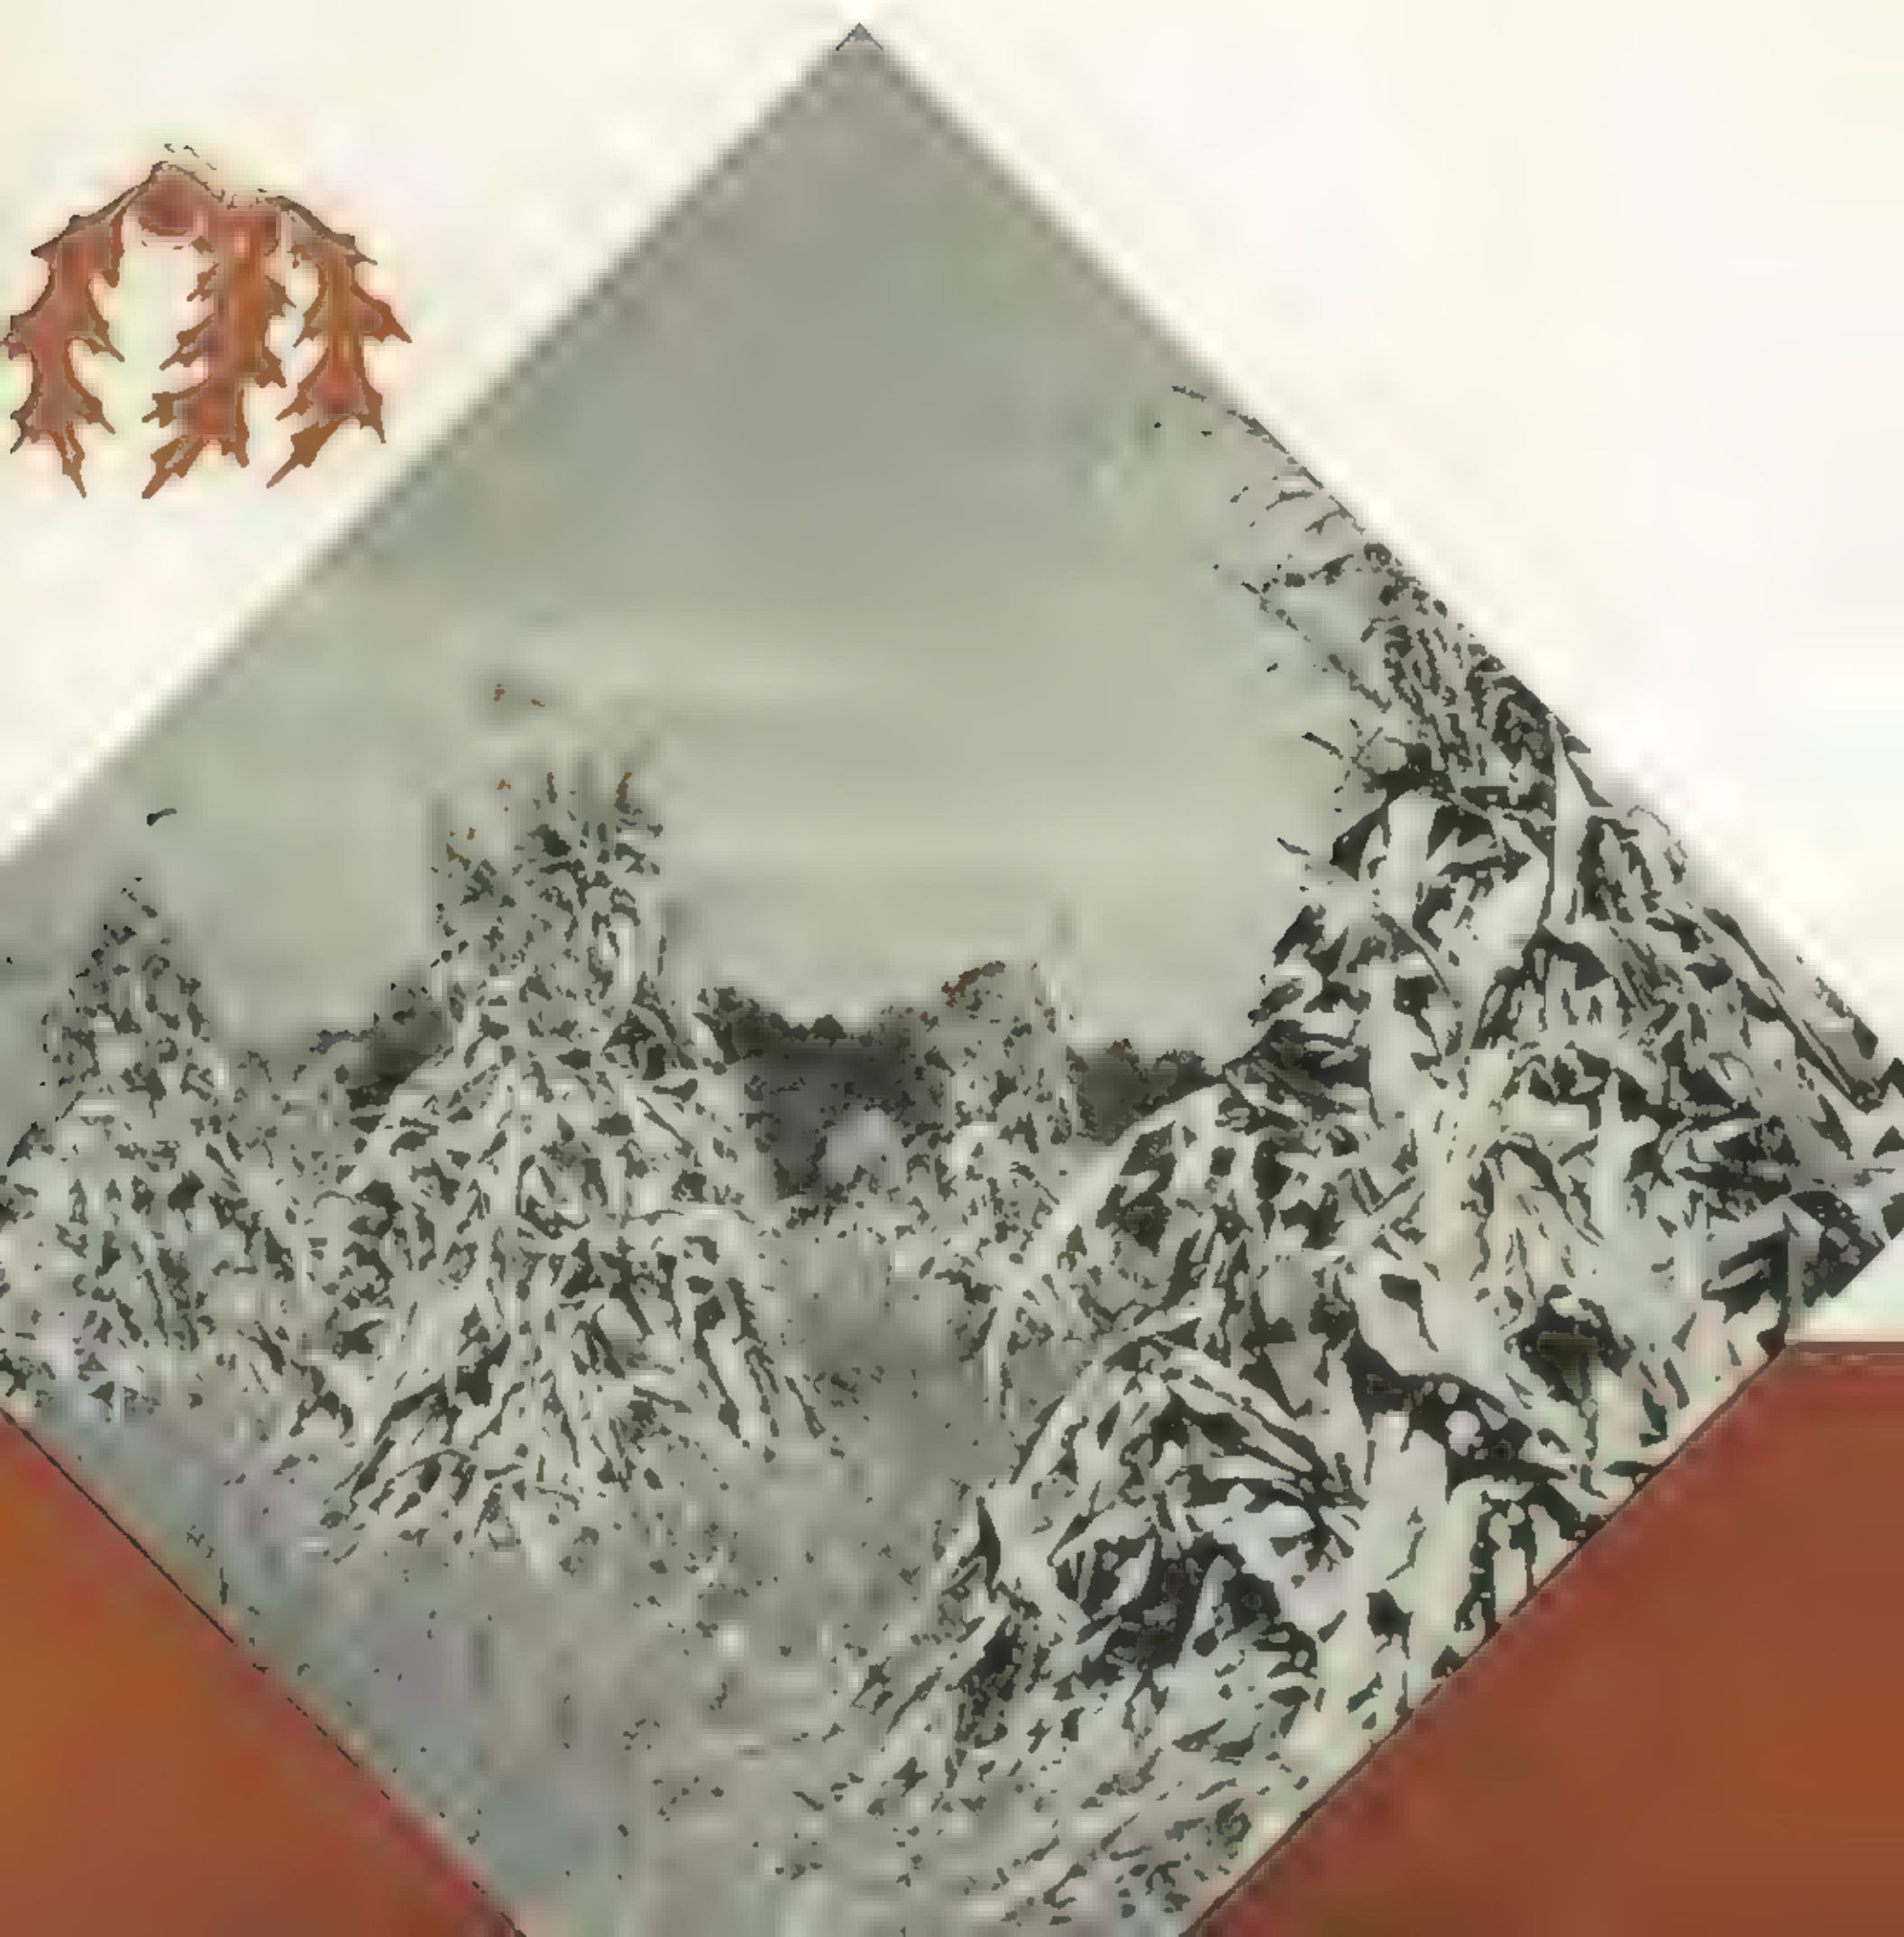

Part two presents the winter activities of our school, showing the student life and club activities. Here we find pictures of our Association officers and a page of snaps showing activities in and around school. Then comes the Quaker editorial and business staffs. The next two pages contain pictures of the language groups, the Spanish and Latin Clubs, followed by the Stamp Club and Debate squad. The junior play cast and Thespian group is next presented, followed by pictures of the Camera Club and staff of the library.

Spring is upon us, and we find various spring activities presented. Varsity basketball appears, followed by the reserve basketball and a group picture of the Varsity S Club. Two sports clubs, the G. A. A., and the Three Feathers Club, follow. Spring sports of track and golf are then pictured and presented in write-ups. Music groups come next with pictures of the school band, orchestra, Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs. The tennis team is pictured opposite a page of shots presenting students around school.

The final season, summer, starts on page sixty-five. Snaps of the senior officers and other members of this class open this section. Also on these pages are the write-ups of the class and a poem. Commencement is one of the activities at the first of the summer scene, so naturally pictures of the graduating class appear in the summer section, these bringing the editorial portion of the book to a finish. However, the book is not finished for a very important part, the advertisements follow.

EDUCATIONAL

E. S. Kerr

Mr. Earl S. Kerr is now completing his tenth year as Superintendent of Schools in Salem. With the Board of Education he selects the teaching staff, makes provision for school repairs, works on courses of study and many other things essential to a well-run school system. Although few students have occasion to converse with Mr. Kerr, those who do find him a very interesting and understanding man. In a large way he works for everything that is best in the teaching profession.

Mr. Lewis Smith, Dean of Boys in Salem High, is well-liked because of his clear understanding of the troubles of high school boys. He has been especially helpful because he has been able, not only to advise boys about their school problems, but he has been able to give them an idea of the vocations open to boys graduating from high school.

In addition to his work as Dean of Boys and teacher of history, he is Director of Athletics and has charge of the school intramural athletic program.

LEADERS

H. M. Williams

Maude Stanton Hart

Mr. H. M. Williams has just completed five years as principal of Salem High. During this time he has been responsible for the organization and management of the high school in both curricular and extra-curricular areas.

He has been able to set up a school calendar which has provided many outstanding assemblies, school parties and other functions.

Many students have received advice and encouragement in conference with him.

All in all, he has done many things unknown to the student body in general which have made possible a successful school year.

Miss Maude Hart, Dean of Girls, has the interests of each individual girl at heart and makes it her business to become personally acquainted with each girl. She has conferences with seniors, whom she assists in checking credits and laying future plans, and the freshmen, who need orientation in a new field and help in planning four-year courses.

Miss Hart feels it her responsibility to help each out-going girl graduate prove that the years spent in Salem High school can and do open to them rich fields of usefulness.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Although the students of Salem High School seldom see the men who are pictured above, they make up the Board of Education which provides for us many of the advantages we enjoy. They determine the length of the school year and vacation, take care of the teaching force, pay the bills, see to the repairs of the school, take care of the lighting and heating, provide a thorough curriculum for the schools, and do many other things.

In November of last year Judge Joel H. Sharp resigned from the Board, and Mr. George P. Lozier was appointed to fill the vacancy.

To this Board, for the work it is doing in keeping our high school among the class "A" schools in the state of Ohio, we express our sincere appreciation.

Across top: Miss Miller takes on a questioning look as she enters the building. As Mr. Smith eats a bit of popcorn, Mr. Brown gives one of his basketball boys the eye. Miss Morgan and Miss Zimmerman hurry down the hall to school. Across bottom: Mr. Cope tells 'em what it's all about, while Mr. Clarke tries to hide from the camera. Mr. Keller poses in front of the school and Mr. Early discusses a tennis game with some of the boys.

• ENGLISH •

In the English department, four well-trained teachers very capably conduct classes in Salem High. English, a required subject is a very important subject in the curriculum of the school. These four teachers include Mr. Lehman, who teaches journalism and is adviser for the Quaker editorial staff; Mr. Early, who is tennis coach and teaches social studies; Miss Bodo, who teaches dramatics, advises the Thespians, and directs the class plays; and Mr. Brautigam, who leads the band.

• LANGUAGES •

As Salem High school is ranked among the class "A" schools of Ohio, it has a complete language department which includes German, French, Spanish, and Latin. Two years of each language are offered students. German is taught by Miss Beardmore, who also teaches world history and acts as senior class adviser. Miss Miller instructs in French, general science, and is Hi-Tri adviser. Spanish is taught by Miss Hollett, who also teaches English. Latin is supervised by Miss Redinger, who joined the faculty of Salem High this year.

• SCIENCES •

The science department of our school has four teachers, well-trained in science of all kinds. Mrs. Cox, one of the biology teachers, who several years ago wrote her book, "Exploring Biology," this year completed a work book to go with all biology texts. Mr. Herbert Jones, teacher of chemistry, is also adviser to the Hi-Y. Mr. Clarke teaches general science and physics and acts as cross country coach. Mr. Olloman, who teaches biology, acts as adviser to the Three Feathers Club and the Boys' Glee Club.

Martha S. McCready

• MATHEMATICS •

Miss McCready, Mr. Brown, and Miss Douglass make up the mathematics department of Salem High school. Miss McCready, teacher of algebra, solid geometry and trigonometry, is junior class adviser. Mr. Brown instructs the general mathematics classes, coaches the basketball team, and advises the Varsity S Club. Miss Douglass, who returned this year after a one year's leave of absence, teaches algebra and plane geometry.

• SOCIAL SCIENCES •

Facts about international relations, social living, government, or history may be obtained from any one of these three men. Mr. Guiler, teacher of American government, international relations, and public speaking, is also debate coach. Mr. Henning instructs classes in American history, commercial law, and American government. Mr. Theodore Jones, instructor of economics, boy's hygiene and sociology, is also assistant basketball and football coach.

Claribel Bickel

Richard W. Hilgendorf

• COMMERCIAL •

Commercial subjects are very popular in Salem High school. Anyone wishing to take a full course in business training may do so. Four well trained teachers instruct in these subjects. Miss Bickel teaches typing and shorthand. Mr. Hilgendorf, who teaches bookkeeping, general business, and salesmanship, is also adviser to the Quaker business staff. Mrs. Talbott has classes in general business, business English, shorthand, and personal typing. Mr. Keller, who joined the faculty of Salem High this year, teaches general business and mechanical drawing. He is also adviser to the Camera Club.

• VOCATIONAL •

The vocational classes of Salem High are highly rated by the students because there one can apply the knowledge he acquires. The saying, "Experience is the best teacher," is tully proved by these classes. Miss Morgan has successfully completed her first full year as cooking instructor. Mr. Englehart teaches classes in metal industries. Miss Zimmerman, who teaches sewing, and Mr. Wagstaff, who teaches industrial arts, are both new to the Salem High school faculty this year.

• PHYSICAL EDUCATION •

There's a saying that "Health is Wealth," and if this is true we students should be very rich, for the instructors in our physical education department try very hard to keep us healthy. Mr. Cope instructs the boys' gym classes. Miss Schroeder acts as school nurse and teaches the girls' hygiene classes. Mr. Schroeder instructs social studies, physical geography, and is football coach. Miss Hanna teaches English and the girls' gym classes.

LIBRARY - MUSIC - ART

Miss Lehman, high school librarian, very thoroughly handles her job in the library. During this year many new books were added and a new system of using the library was tried. Mrs. Satterthwaite, who directs the orchestra and is in charge of the high school Girls' Glee Club, is instructor of music in the Salem schools. Mrs. Headrick, art instructor, has classes, held in the junior high school Art Shop, for those students whose interests are in art.

Janice Weaver

Reba Dilworth

• SECRETARIES •

Miss Weaver, who acted as secretary to Mr. Williams, was married at the end of the first semester and resigned her position to take up a life-time job in Dayton as a housewife. Miss Dilworth is secretary to Mr. Kerr, the superintendent of schools. Miss Tullis accepted the position as secretary to the Board of Education at the beginning of the school year to replace Miss Bodo. Mrs. Wilt is attendance and record clerk and secretary to the school nurse.

CLASS of 1942

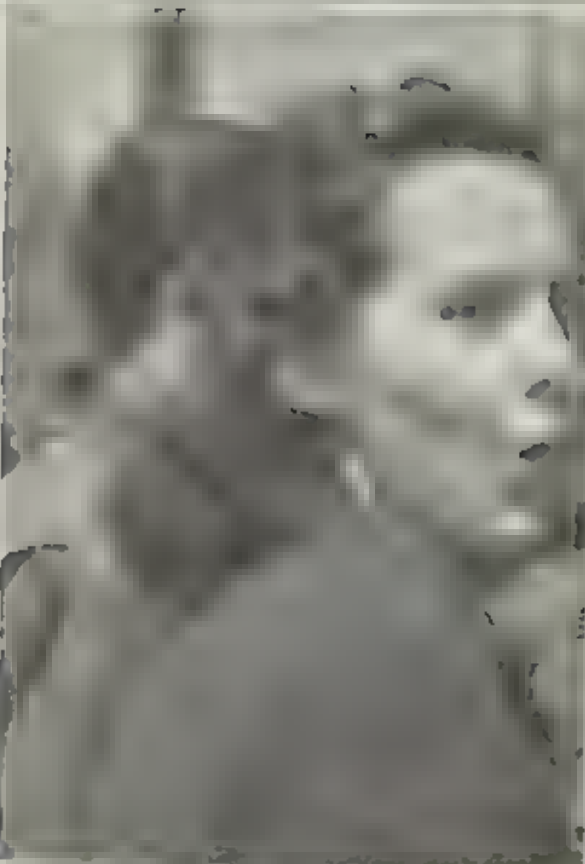

The class of 1942, this year's junior class, a class whose members are now looking forward to their next year as seniors with high ambitions, is a group that has left behind it a record of which every junior may be proud. Their history as a class shows that the juniors have been represented in practically every high school activity and that they have left a record of successful efforts in all of these activities.

As its first official duty of the school term, the class chose the following officers to lead them: president, Homer Asmus; vice-president, William Rance; secretary-treasurer, William Dunlap.

The first social activity of the year for the juniors was the upperclass party, held in November. This was the first real privilege associated with the longed for and finally achieved name of upperclassmen.

One of the most important activity of any junior class, that of selecting and purchasing class rings, was undertaken in March, the traditional ring with the Quaker Head engraved on it, being chosen.

On March 20, 21, the juniors presented to the public one of the most successful class plays ever given in Salem High, "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair," a portrayal of the life of Stephen Foster. This play was also an individual triumph for Miss Viola Bodo, who was the author, as well as director of it. The leading roles in the play were taken by Donald Rice and Mary Lou Cope, the rest of the cast including Donna Haessly, Jean Carey, Wayne Steffel, Lois Hoover, Howard Krauss, Bill Dunlap, Sara Knepper, Sidney and Ben Ware.

Felix Di Antonio and Charles Juliano strike a friendly pose for the cameraman.

Later in March the class selected officers to lead the Association next year. Those chosen were William Dunlap, president; Homer Asmus, vice-president; Dorothy Lutch, secretary; Bill Probert, treasurer.

Finally, at the close of the year, came the event of all events, the Junior-Senior Prom. The class played host to the departing seniors. The successful prom was a fitting climax to a very successful year for the class of 1942.

Members of the junior class played an exceedingly important role in the school athletic program.

Those participating in football are Jim Nocera, Phil Cozad, Dick Boughton, John Volio, Felix Di Antonio, Frank King, Jack Tinsley, Bob Ruffing, Salvadore Guappone and Charles Juliano.

In basketball the Juniors played an equally important part. Ray McGaffie, Phil Cozad, Salvadore Guappone, and John Volio all received varsity letters and were selected as the starting five in the final games of the season. Other juniors who played an important part in the basketball scheme are Carl Capel, Bob Buckman, Walt Miller and Bob Ruffing.

For the track team Mr. Cope selected the following junior boys: Ed Banar, Ed Cobbs, Charles Juliano, Bruce Krepps, Dick Boughton,

First row: H. Halliard, E. Halliard, Hilditch, Haessly, Guy, Julian, Holk, Ingledue, Ellyson, Gartner, Bishop, Beery, Buehler, Bates, Alexander, Ciricosta, Ciotti, Equize, Blaine. JUNIORS

Frank King, Bill Martin, Bob Ward, Ray McGaffie and Felix Di Antonio.

The band had an exceptionally large number of juniors as members this year. Those who participated in band are: Homer Asmus, John Botu, Katherin Buehler, Dick Burcaw, Alvin Cocos, Ray Corrigan, Bill Dunlap, Bob Entriiken, Lois Field, Maybelle Huston, Bob Irey, Margaret Ann Jones, Esther Lewis, Charles Lind, Lois Myers, Ben Ware, Glen Whitacre and June Wolford.

In addition, Deborah Beery, Margaret Ann Jones, Esther Lewis, Eleanor Stewart, Dick Stone, Lois Myers and George Bordirnea were members of the orchestra.

Miss Lois Lehman selected five members to aid in the library. They are Dorothy Lutsch, Marie Kastenhuber, Margaret Ann Jones, Alyse Kuniewicz and Rita Pottorf.

Representing the class of '42 on the Quaker editorial staff were Marie Kastenhuber and Lois Hoover. On the business staff were Bill Dunlap, Wayne Steffel, Jan Wallace and Ben Ware.

This, the class of 1942, and its adviser, Miss Martha McCready, have successfully completed a year of activities that will remain in the minds of the class members as some of their most pleasant memories of Salem High.

CLASS of 1943

The class of 1943 entered Salem High school this fall with the air of sophisticated Sophomores and made a record to be envied by Sophomore classes to come.

Electing Paul Evans, president; Herbert Hansell, vice-president; and Marian Davidson, secretary-treasurer; they organized for the second time in their high school career.

To increase the class treasury, the members diligently sold colorful bandannas and pennants, during the fall of the school year.

The class of '43 was well represented in football season by Gordon Shasteen, Duane Thomas, Albert Kenst, Richard Culberson, Glenn Weigand, Frank Hagen, and Manager, Harry Ehrhart.

Equally promising candidates for track surpassed every other class in numbers and proved

CLASS of 1944

Last fall 237 freshmen stood on the threshold of Salem High School for the first time. These boys and girls were destined to make a place for themselves in high school life. They sold pencils to start out their year and to put some money in the class treasury.

About the middle of the year, officers were elected to govern the official matters of the class. These officers included Robert Cibula, president; William Mullins, vice-president; Barbara Butler, secretary-treasurer.

The members were very active in sports. Varsity football claimed Carmen Nocera and Tom Leslie, while included on the junior varsity were Gerald Bingham, Darwin Charnesky, Ralph Davis, Charles Dunlap, Frank Entriken, Dick Kleon, Ben Kupka, Charles Myers, Leonard Quinn, Bob Schuster and Ray Wise.

Basketball claimed Charles Dunlap, Frank Entriken, Dick Greene and Tom Leslie. Freshman managers were Tony Hoover and Gene Howell.

Those who were on the track squad are Gerald Bingham, Rudolph Ciotti, John Culler,

First row: Daniels, Grove, Dixon, Foster, Fiets, Nicklason, Owens, Eppinger, Paxson, Carmelo, Beery, Alton, Anoneo, Gerscht, Gatcheck, Davidson, Getz, Nicklas. Second row: Otto, Anderson, O'Hara, O'Connell, Rose, Roberts, Shaffer, Papic, Bodarnea, H. Oana, V. Oana, Bartchy, Chappell, Butler, Neal, Nonno, Equize, Cosky, Sommers. FRESHMEN

Charles Dunlap, Frank Entriiken, Kermit Johns, John Kleon, Tom Leslie, Carmen Nocera, Jim Primm, Alfred Votaw and Richard Widmyer. The freshman managers were Bill Stratton and Dale Wykoff.

The girls played a part in sports by participating in the G. A. A. These girls included Doris Ellis, Virginia Equize, Evelyn Forney, Helen Haggerty, Claire Hicks, Martha Hicks, Vera Janicky, Philomena Limpose, Betty Long, Helen Oana, Viola Oana, Marilyn Page, Barbara Roberts, Dolores Rose and Juanita Whaley.

The freshman class was well represented in the band by Wayne Becknell, Pricilla Beery, Billy Benson, Nick Budai, Barbara Butler, William Campf, Jack Fineran, Ray Greenisen, William Hannay, Eugene Hively, Mary Beth King, Mary Jane Sproat, Elizabeth Stewart, Barbara Wells, Dale Wykoff and Doris Holroyd.

The class was well represented in all the clubs in which freshmen are eligible to participate. Altogether this class was very active and started out in high school in a fine manner.

Jim Wilson, Don Leininger and Jack Smith talk about matters important to freshmen.

First row: Stowe, Tolp, Stoner, Varinaitis, Sproat, West, Wilms, Whaley, Zerba, West, Miller, Messersmith, Umberger, Limpose, Loesch, Vaughn, Holvroyd, Hicks. Second row: McDonald, Hicks, Znes, Jouse, McGuire, King, McGhee, Martinich, Haggerty, McArthur, Lutsch, Lippstadt, Knisely, Knag, Keister, Wells, Lee, Huddleston. Third row: Hahn, Steffel, House, Lagulli, Whinnery, Stewart, Hollinger, Johnson, Kish, Janicky, Long, Keyes, Zimmerman, Taylor, Hart, Leggett, Kerros, Hagan. Fourth row: Widmyer, Hope, Ingledue, Heslip, Jones, Weber, Hoover, Stratton, Leslie, Kleon, Marshall, Horning, Wise, Johnson, Loesch, Helm, Votaw. Fifth row: Ursu, McGaffie, McLaughlin, Johns, McIvay, Morrow, Laddington, Long, Hively, Weaver, Guller, Kupka, Hartman, Howell, Kooniz, John Landwert, Migliarin, Taylor, Metzady, Whiteleather, Wright, Juanao, Jennings, Wykoff. Sixth row: Ware, Marina, Sweeney, Melitschka, Halverstadt, Hannay, Limpose, Hahn, Leininger, Workman, Long, Tomkinson, Koch, Myers, Wilson, Mullins, Knag, Taylor, Kozar, Votaw, Walter, Steele.

"Lena Rivers," with pigtails, birdcage and a decided hilly-billy accent, packed bag and baggage, and with her beloved Granny Nichols, moved down to the stage of the Salem High auditorium and managed to make life miserable for her altogether too aristocratic relatives residing there. And for two rollicking evenings, December 5 and 6, she and an excellent cast, under the direction of Miss Viola Bodo and student director, Betty Percival, brought to life in grand style the most popular and celebrated of Mary J. Holmes' novels, "Lena Rivers." These beloved characters of fiction were portrayed to the satisfaction of enthusiastic audiences; and "standing room only" was the cry that greeted the late-comers.

SENIOR PLAY

Aunt Milly and 'jest fixin' to do it' Shadrack, the two colored servants were enacted by Florence Hiltbrand and Thomas Berger. Lena Rivers, was portrayed by Vivian Foltz; Granny, by Martha Clark. The Livingstone family included: John Jr., Jim Britt; Anne Livingstone, Nan Beardmore, Mrs. Livingstone, Gloria Gibson; Carolne, Lucia Sharp; and Mr. Livingstone, Louis Raymond. The heart interest came in the form of John Dan as Durward Bellmont; and Robert Ballantine as Malcom Everett, Anne's tutor. From one of the first families of the South came Mrs. Graham, Marjorie Brian and Mr. Graham, William Dunlap. (A Junior).

Nan Beardmore faints while Bob Ballantine, Jim Britt and Gloria Gibson look on. (This is only a scene from the play.)

Seated Brian, Ballantine, Beardmore, Dan, Foltz, Dunlap, Sharp. Standing Percival, Gibson, Berger, Hiltbrand, Raymond, Clark, Britt, Miss Bodo.

The "Sweetheart of Salem High School," Dorothy Greene, is typical of all the high school girls throughout the country. She was chosen Football Girl in her junior year. Dorothy is the eighteenth girl to have this honor bestowed upon her and held her position sacred during the football season by attending every game.

The Football-Girl Award was first presented by the late Dr. H. K. Yaggi, in 1923.

Six able cheerleaders, Betty Alexander, Ann Cosgarea, Joyce Malloy, Jim Britt, Dale Paxson, Joyce Stratton were chosen for this year's squad by a new method.

After narrowing down the thirty students that reported for tryouts, R. B. Clarke presented eight of the participants in assembly and the six regulars were chosen by student electors.

Football co-captains for the 1940 season, Marvin and Melvin Wukotich, are shown here in the "8".

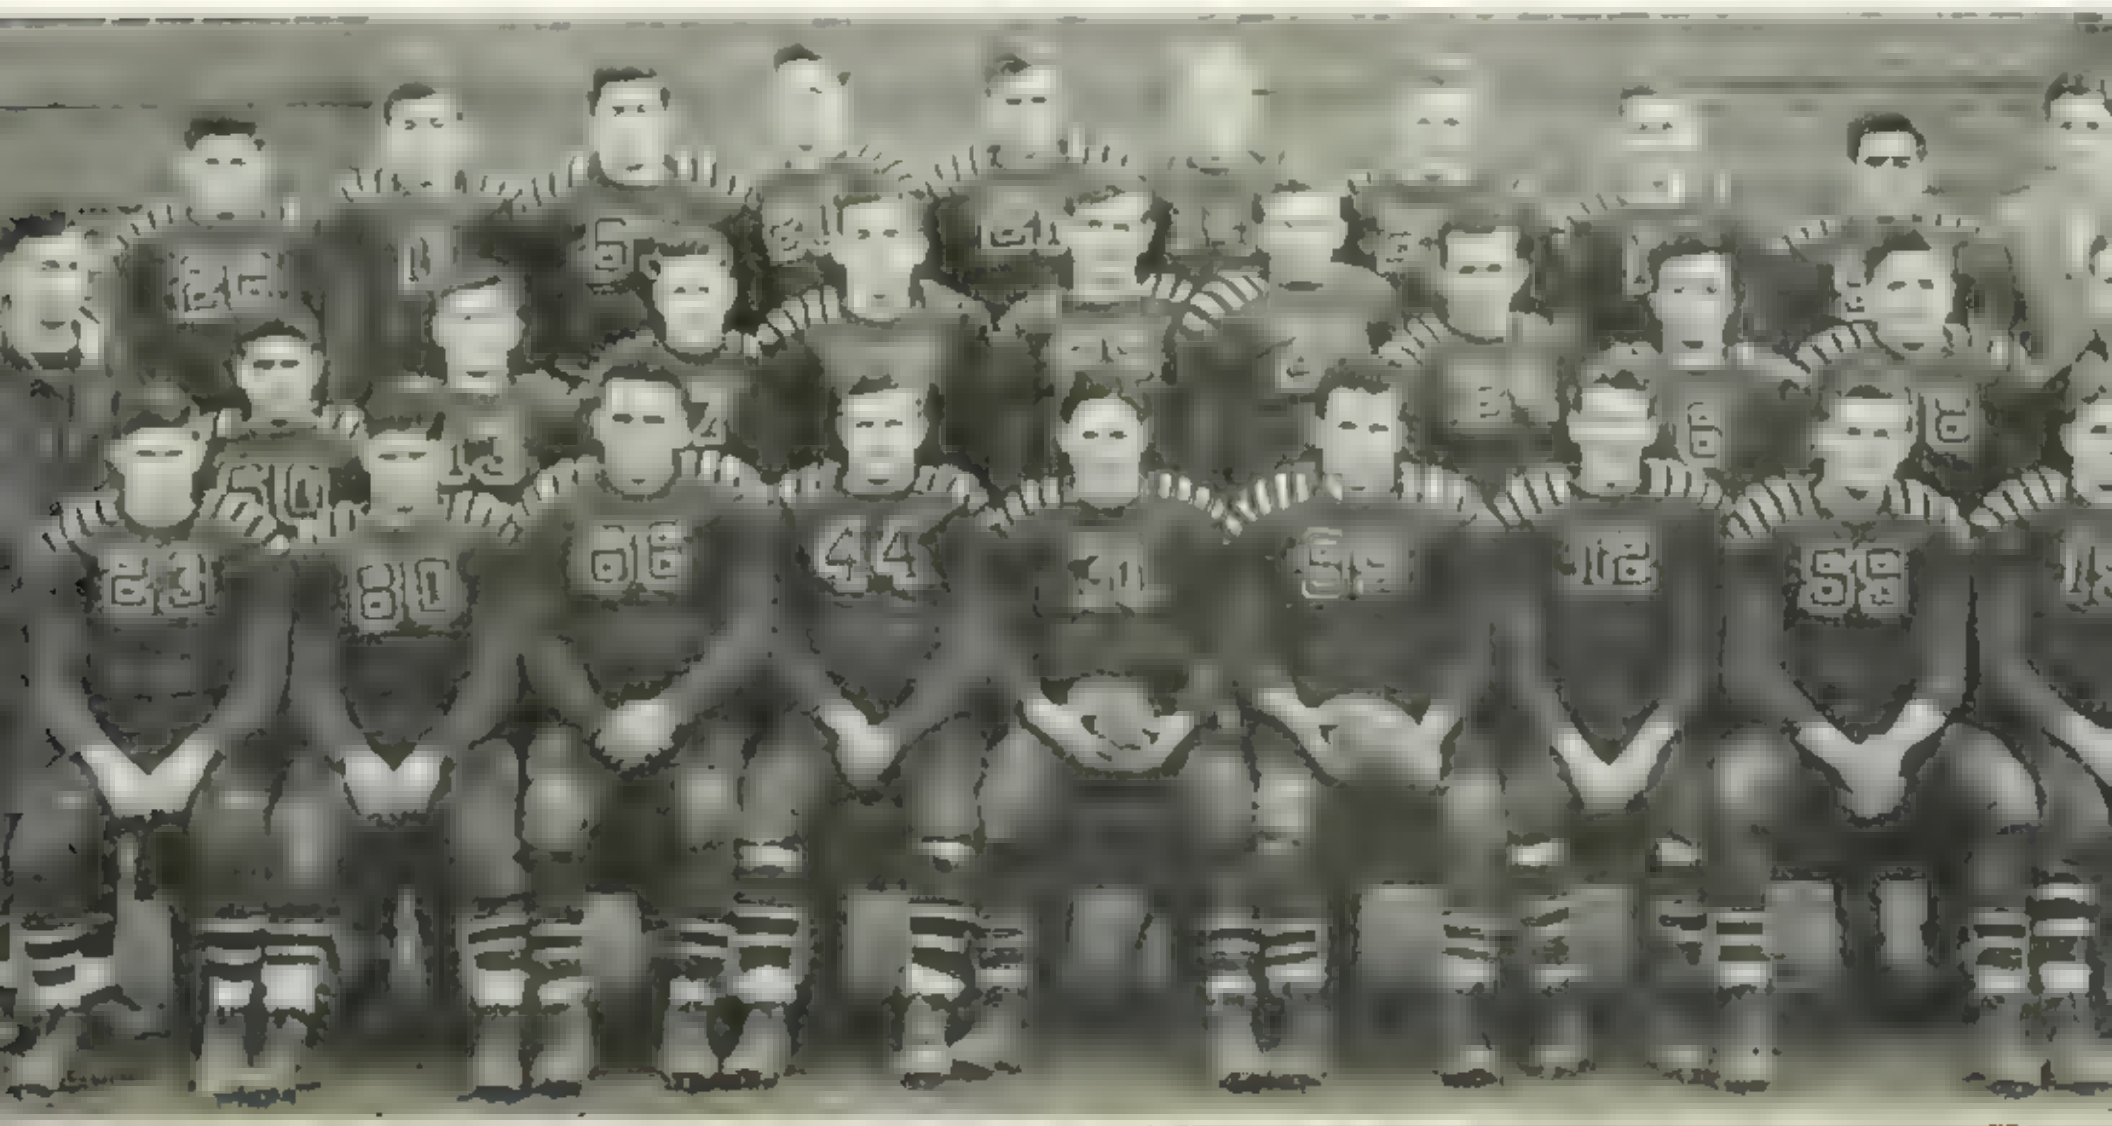

ALEM HIGH'S fighting Quakers, hounded by bad breaks, came through the 1940 football season with a record of four wins, three losses, and three ties. Led by Marvin "Buster" Wukotich who tallied 77 points during the season, the Quakers, coached by Carl F. Schroeder, were feared by their opponents, although they were a low scoring team. The record indicated an average season, but it wasn't as bad as one might think.

The first tussle was with Sebring. Entering the game with a cocky air, the Quakers were surprised when the game ended in a 6-6 deadlock. A touchdown pass plus the extra point downed Ravenna, 7-6. The last quarter jinx beat the Quakers for the fourth consecutive year as they lost to East Liverpool in the Potters last period rally, 21-13. Playing a listless brand of ball, the Red and Black downed Struthers, 14-7. In Wellsville the following week, the Quakers scored early and edged the Tigers, 6-0. The locals ran wild against Lisbon, 31-7.

The Dover game, played in a downpour of rain, ended in a 7-7 tie. Smashing through the Quakers with apparent ease, the Barberton Magics chalked up a 26-6 win over the local lads. The South game was nearly won, but a touchdown pass in the last two minutes plus the addition of the extra point, gave the South boys a 7-7 deadlock.

Third row: Juliano, Guappone, Ruffing, Hagan, Tinsley, King, Weigand, Culbertson, C. Nocera, McGhee, manager.

In the annual Turkey Day battle with the Alliance Aviators, the Quakers were conquered, 34-0, in a game closer than score indicates.

Wukotich was supported ably throughout the season by brother Mel, who played a bang-up game, George Baillie, versatile signal barker, Ward Zeller, Bob Malloy, Carroll Greene and Bob Umberger, all of whom will graduate in June. The other linemen who saw a great deal of service are "Pinky" King, Felix Di Antonio, Bob Ruffing, Phil Cozad and Charles Juliano. These men, along with Johnny Volio, Carmen Nocera, and Jim Nocera, all backs, will form the nucleus of what ought to be a good '41 football team. The seven boys who will graduate in June will be sadly missed when next year's practice sessions roll around. "Buster"

J. V. FOOTBALL

Just as basketball has a reserve squad to prepare players for future varsities, so does football have a junior varsity. This team has been unheralded in the halls of Salem High and has failed to get the credit due it and its coach, Theodore Jones.

The team had no regular schedule this past year, often playing games arranged only the day before. They emerged from their ten tussels with a record of four wins and six losses. In their opener they were defeated by Struthers, 14-0. Following this defeat they lost two more, to Boardman, 7-0, and East Palestine, 13-7.

The J. V's. broke their string of losses by winning over McDonald, 14-0. Campbell Memorial handed the locals their fourth defeat by a count of 20-0, but the Quakers snapped out of it long enough to plaster East Liverpool, 20-0.

Their next battle found them again in the throes of defeat as they were topped by Leetonia, 13-6, but the home team avenged this beating by administering a 13-7 defeat to the same Leetonia team in a return game. East Palestine was then defeated in a return tussel and the locals wound up the season losing to Alliance, 21-7. This game produced a high spot of the season as John Hart ran back a kick-off 80 yards to score Salem's only touchdown of the battle.

Ralph Davis, a flash back, ripped off a 63-yard run back on an intercepted pass in the East Liverpool clash, in another of the season's high spots. Davis and Bob Sell, a guard, showed promise during the year and may be moved up to the varsity next year. Frank Entriken took over the punting duties of the squad, and although he is only a freshman, his team mates are predicting a good football career for him. Coach Jones is of the opinion that the objective of the team has been accomplished this year, but whether he is right or not depends on the varsities of the future.

CROSS COUNTRY

R. B. Clarke, serving his eleventh year as coach of the cross country squad, has had some brilliant teams in that span of time, but in the last few years his teams have been poor due to lack of material. This year there was but one returning letterman, Art Horning. In addition to Horning, those on the team were Frank Quinn, Lee Boone, Bill Shoop, Harry Beck, Gail Bartchy, John Dan and Ed Banar.

The squad staged dual meets with Warren and Younstown Rayen but failed to win either of them. In the district meet, the team placed fourth in a field of eleven teams. Quinn looked like a very fine future prospect as he finished fourteenth place. Horning next for Salem, finished twenty-second.

Clarke bemoans the fact that five of the eight runners will graduate in June. They are Bartchy, Beck, Boone, Dan and Horning, but he remarked that Quinn and Shoop are two likely looking prospects for next year's squad.

The poor records of the last two years are not signs that cross country is on the wane in Salem High. They mean only that material has not been overabundant. If everything goes right, Salem may win another championship in the near future.

Some twenty-five clubs and other activities are enjoyed by a large per cent of the students of Salem High. Some of the more recently formed clubs are the Three Feathers Club and the K. I. P. Club. They were formed because of the demands of the students interested in archery and cameras, especially the developing and printing of pictures.

For persons interested in languages, there are the Spanish and Latin Clubs. A Stamp Club for students interested in philately was organized also.

The Hi-Tri and Hi-Y Clubs are for upper classmen who are interested in making themselves and their community better.

The Quaker weekly staff, another activity, is for students interested in journalism. The Quaker business staff sold advertisements for the weekly.

Band, Orchestra, Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs—all offered chances for persons interested in music.

Besides the club, the outside interests include sports, both varsity and intramural, for boys. Girls interested in sports work off excess energy by belonging to the G. A. A.

For students who cannot take part in any of these there is always the chance to be a spectator.

Through the Association students enjoy dances and assemblies.

Altogether the student life is a full one and well rounded to please the interests of any of the students.

With Bob Ballantine as editor, the Quaker Editorial staff tried out a new system this year. Two staffs were chosen, one with ten members and the other with eleven. Each staff wrote for the Quaker every other week, staff "A" having it one week and staff "B" the next. Weekly meetings were held during which the members of both staffs commented upon the good and the bad points of the paper edited that week.

Mr. H. C. Lehman, Bob Ballantine and Jack Atkinson represented the staff at the National Scholastic Press Association Convention held November 27, 28, and 29 at Cleveland, Ohio.

The editor took part in a radio program put on by the Tri-County Journalism Association on January 14.

Then on April 1 the Association met at Salem High School with the Quaker Staff in charge of the program, which included talks on journalism and a play presented by members of the Thespians.

A special staff was chosen for the Quaker Annual including Ethel Hill, Patsy Bolen, Jack Atkinson, Vivian Foltz, Joyce Somerville, and Herbert Hansell. Sidney Simon was chosen as staff photographer and Bull Juhn did the art work.

With Vivian Foltz as editor, the girls on the staff edited the girls' issue on February 14.

QUAKER EDITORIAL

Quaker editor, Bob Ballantine gives the week's assignment to Ruth Fidoe and Margaret Farcus.

First row: Bauman, Hoover, Byers, Benedetti, Somerville, Farcus, Fidoe. Second row: Mr. Lehman, Kauber, Hill, Foltz, Zimmerman, Brown, Bolen, Getz. Third row: Mullins, Ballantine, Vansickle, Hansell, Atkinson, Hart.

Under the leadership of Mr. R. W. Hilgendorf, as advisor, and Irene White, as business manager, the eight members of the business staff have worked hard to maintain a financially successful Quaker.

On November 27, 28, 29, Florence Hiltbrand and Irene White journeyed to Cleveland to attend the National Scholastic Press Association conference where the business manager was one of the speakers at a round table discussion.

Several members on the staff have earned gold pins this year. These pins are given to members who have worked on the staff for two years. The students who received them are Eleanor Kuhns, Florence Hiltbrand, Charles Gibbs, Louise Zeck and Bill Dunlap.

Students chosen to work on the special staff for the Quaker annual included George Baillie, Joyce Malloy, Lloyd Field, Charles Lantz, and Bill Dunlap.

Bill Dunlap is also on the weekly staff.

On April 26 members of the staff traveled to Kent to attend the annual spring meeting of the Northeastern Ohio Scholastic Press Association.

Starting the year with a great many inexperienced members, Irene White and Mr. Hilgendorf have turned out an experienced and efficient group of workers.

With the reputation of being one of the most active clubs in Salem High, the Hi-Y, with approximately fifty members, has very ably lived up to that reputation this year. Early in the year the club joined and later was formally initiated into the Mahoning Valley Council of Hi-Y clubs. They also joined the National Hi-Y organizations.

The Hi-Y basketball team, completing a very successful season of eighteen wins and four losses, took first place in the Hi-Y cage league sponsored by the Mahoning Valley council. Among the speakers who addressed the club at its regular Thursday meetings were Wayne Sidinger, former football line coach at Kent State University; Mr. Milton Johnson, Youngstown Hi-Y director; state highway patrolman, Paul Barnes; Mr. Holland Cameron, trades class instructor; Mr. Herbert Brown and Mr. F. E. Cope of the Salem High School faculty.

HI-Y CLUB

Other activities of the group during the year included an informal dance, held in the gym; participation of George Bailhe and John Dan in a Hi-Y program at Youngstown, when Hi-Y boys took over public offices during the day; a scavenger hunt and weiner roast; and the annual fun night.

This year's officers were president, Ray Lowry; vice-president, John Dan; secretary-treasurer, Robert Houlette. The faculty adviser is Mr. Herbert Jones.

At the beginning of the year the members of the club elected the following officers: Florence Hiltbrand, president; Eleanor Schultz, vice-president; Rita Emery, secretary; Florence England, treasurer; and Majorie Harroff, warden.

On September twenty-sixth the girls in the club held a weiner roast at Sevakeen Lake. This proved to be very successful, as all who attended reported a good time.

HI-TRI CLUB At Thanksgiving time five baskets were given to needy families. The food for these baskets was furnished by members of the club. Each girl was assigned a certain article to donate.

The Hi-Tri had charge of the Christmas assembly which proved to be one of the best Christmas assemblies held in Salem High School for several years.

There are forty-nine members in the club. To be eligible to join the Hi-Tri, a girl is required to have a B average in her grades for the past two years in High School.

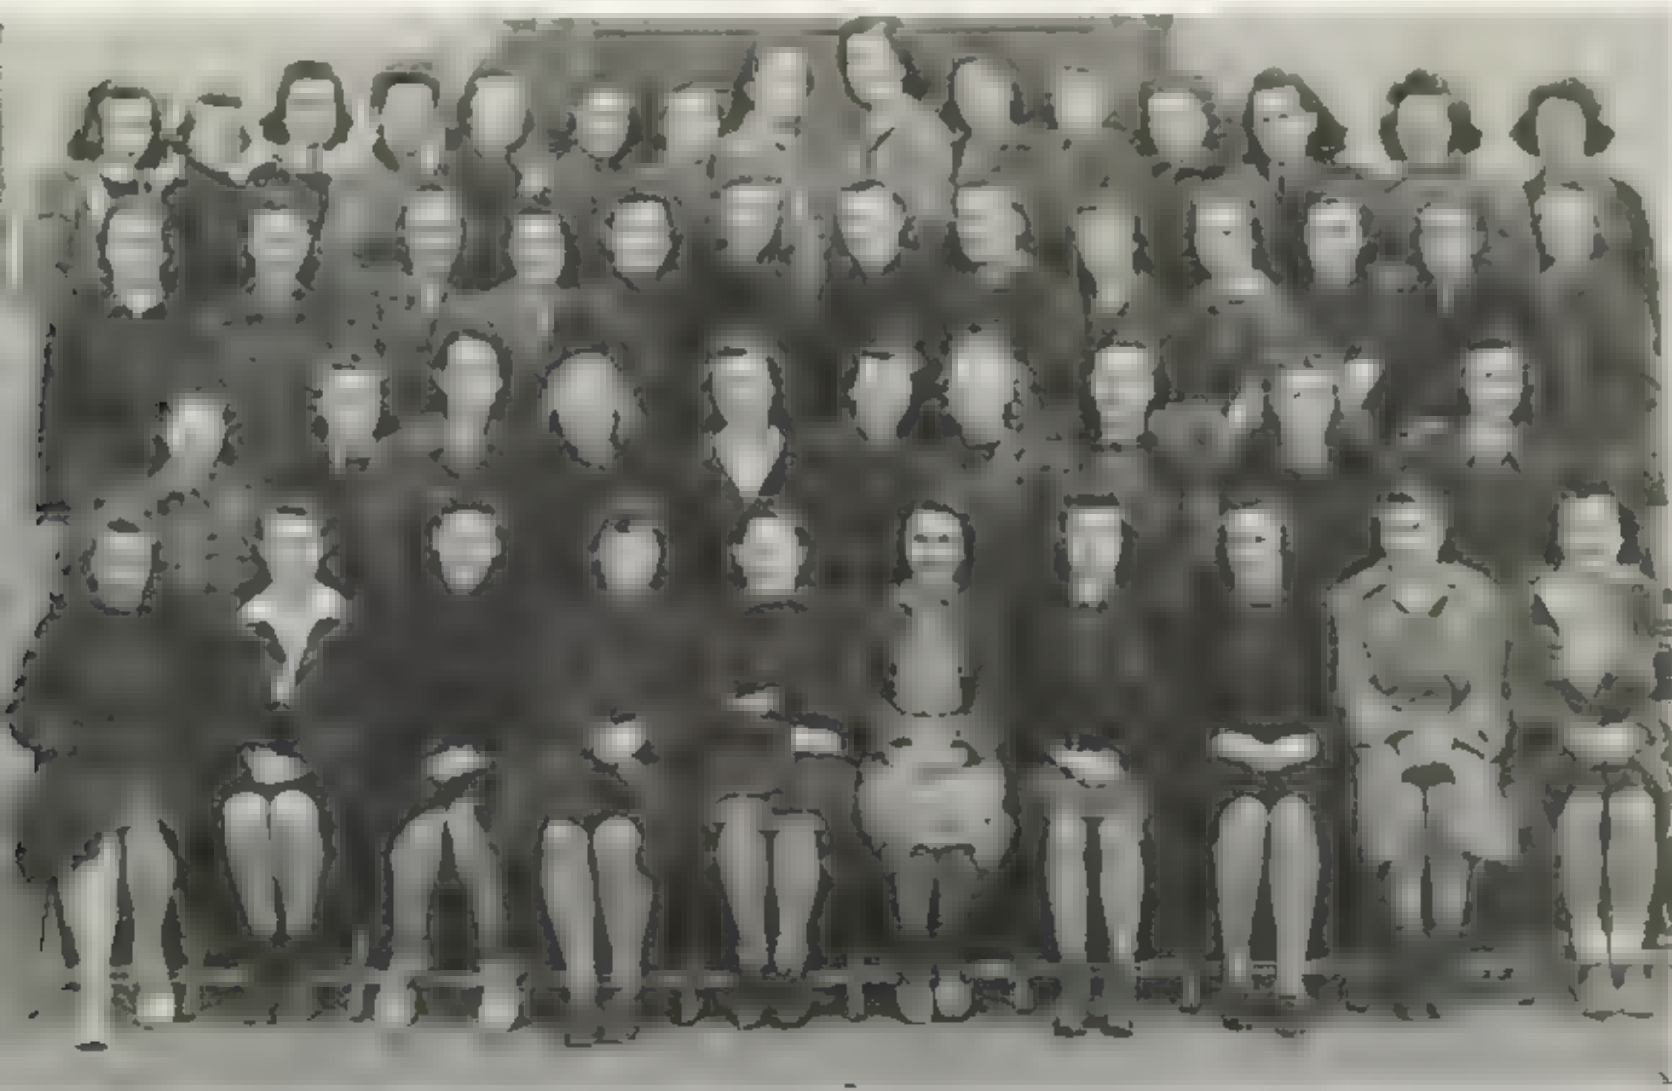

The senior stand was given over to the Hi-Tri at the East Liverpool and Dover football games.

The first semester, members of the club bought gold pins. At each meeting short programs were given. Included on these programs were dramatic and musical presentations, and reports on subjects of interest to girls of high school age.

Eleanor Schultz, Florence Hiltbrand, Lucia Sharp seated and Vivian Foltz and Cleo Santee, standing, make plans for a Hi-Tri meeting.

First row: Kastenhuber, Yates, Labriola, Hilditch, Schmidt, Mingroni, Duda, Bruder, Fronius, DeRienzo. Second row: Miss Miller, Huston Jones, Heister, Dutko, Holmes, Hunter, Fisher, Vincent, Ciricosta. Third row: Emery, Seardmore, Koch, Hal, Bartsch, McDonald, Mayhew, Ketch, Rufer, Brunner, Foltz, Mercer, Santee. Fourth row: Percival, Pottorf, Sharp, Kunewicz, Lutsch, Seeman, Harroff, Johns, Schultz, Lance, Stiffler, England, Field, Hiltbrand, Eppinger.

Although it was not organized until the second semester of the school year, the Spanish Club successfully completed a very interesting program of furthering interest in the Spanish language during the last half of the year.

There were approximately twenty-five members in the club, and at the first meeting of the year Alex Simion was chosen president; Eleanor Kuhns, vice president; Mary Stiffler, secretary; Sally Strank, treasurer.

The activities of this year's club included Spanish vocabulary spelldowns, an information test in Spanish, and a study of the relations of South American nations with the United States. Also, several meetings were devoted to studying Spanish books and plays. Many popular South American and Spanish songs were also learned and sung by the club.

Under the direction of Miss Mildred Hollett, Spanish instructress and club adviser, the second year Spanish students corresponded with boys from Argentine who are studying English. Many of the letters were read before the club.

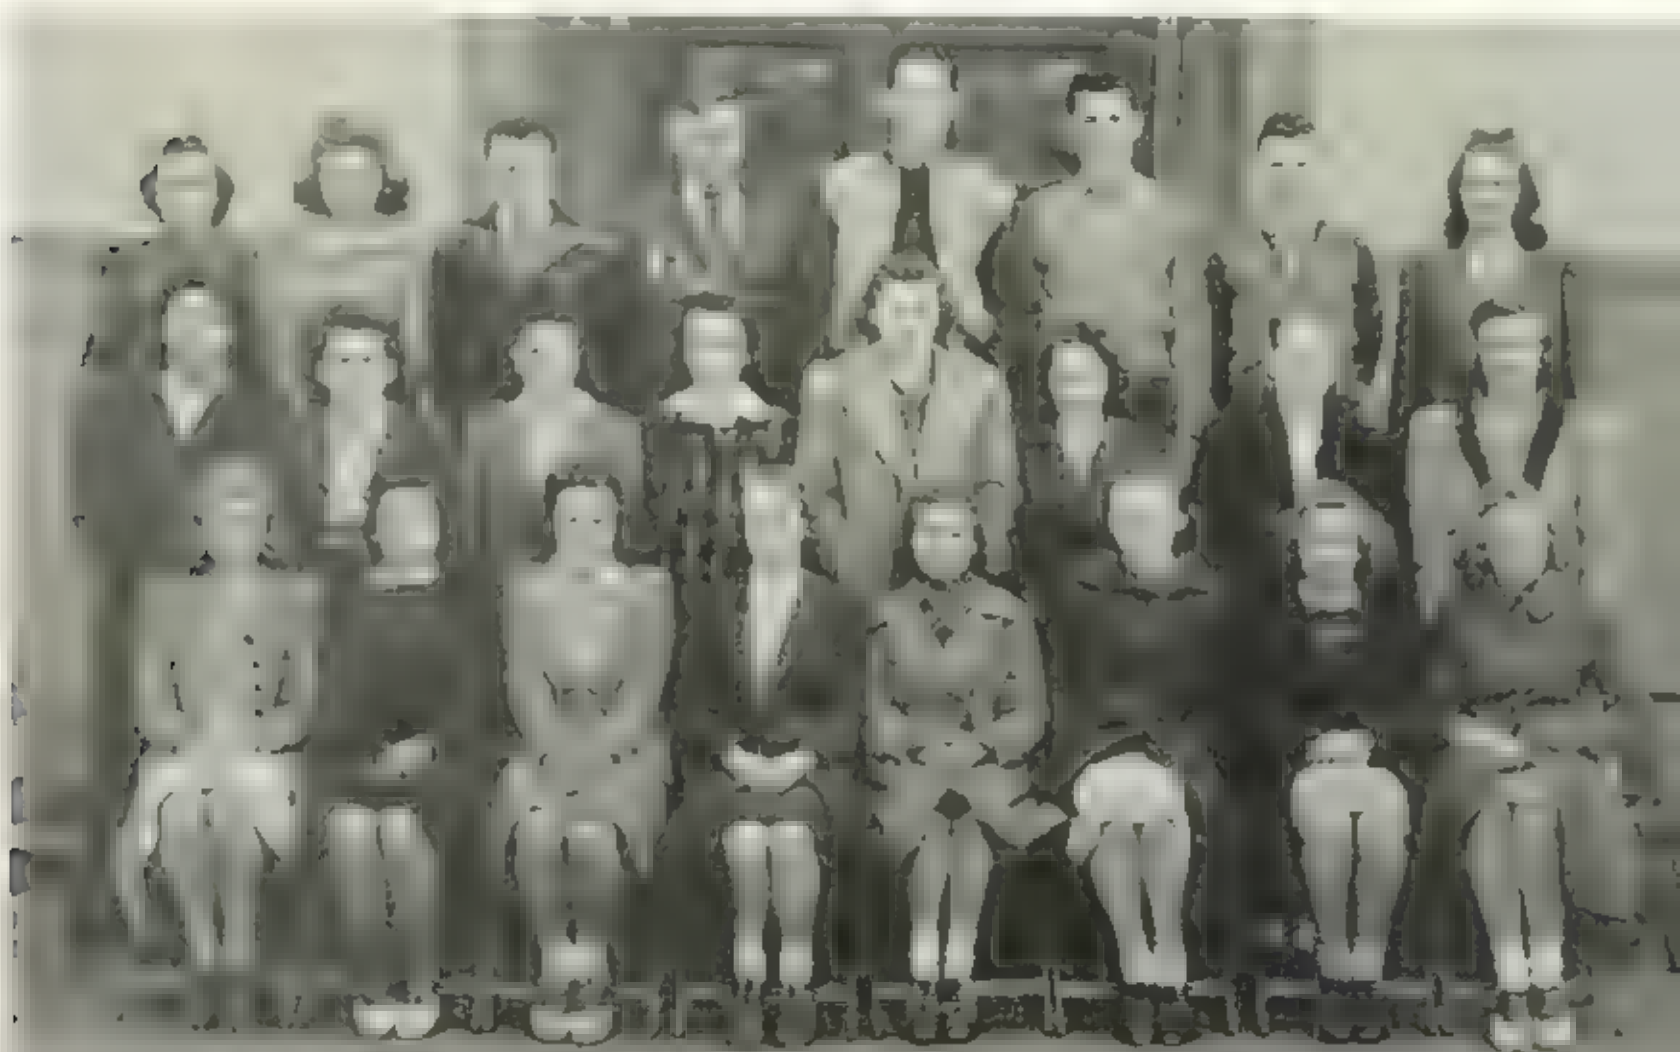

The, "Los Hidalgos," was again chosen as the official club name; and the same pin used by former clubs, with the design of a sombrero, a guitar, a tambourine and serape on the face, was purchased this year.

The annual "yerba mate" or Paraguayan tea party was held and enjoyed by the members.

Any Spanish student was eligible to join the club. The purpose of the group is to secure information on Spanish and South American topics not gained in the Spanish classes.

SPANISH CLUB

First row: Fidoe, Parsons, Kamasky, Votaw, Plegge, Severyn, Syppko, Buehler. Second row: Bober, Wukotic, Omato, McVester, Stiffler, Strank, Snyder, Miss Hollett. Third row: Ohl, Kuhns, Strank, Weigand, Grotendorf, Bot Hunter, Trisler.

"We can because we think we can" is the motto adopted by the Sodalitas Latina, Latin Club of Salem High school.

The following students served as officers in the club during the past year: president, Dick Culberson; vice-president, Virginia Snyder; secretary, Mary Byers; and treasurer, Dorothy Haldi.

On February 19, forty-six new members were initiated, this making the largest Latin Club organized in Salem High school for many years.

Meetings of the club were held the second and fourth Thursday of each month.

LATIN CLUB

The various programs of these meetings included vocabulary drills in Latin, plays put on by members of the club and the study of myths in connection with the months of the year.

A one-act play entitled "Theseus et Minotaurus" was presented on March 20 at the club's meeting. The cast included Bob Cibula as Theseus; Martha Keyes as Ariadue, the daughter of Minois; and Bill Mullins as Minois, king of Crete. Minor characters were played by Dick Butler, Nate Bahm, Jim Primm, Jack Rance, Dale Wykoff and Dick Widmyer.

The committee in charge of the play was composed of Elizabeth Benedetti, Dick Butler, and Bob Cibula.

At the meetings the students would answer the roll call in Latin and would give the password for that meeting in Latin.

The Latin club officers: Virginia Snyder, Dorothy Haldi and Mary Byers, seated and Dick Culberson, standing, plan a club meeting.

One of the main hobby clubs of Salem High, is the Stamp Club, founded six years ago. Mr. H. M. Williams acts as adviser.

The officers chosen early in the year are president, Edward Cobb; vice-president, Ben Ware; secretary-treasurer, Robert Mitchell.

Meeting every other Monday in room 106, the Stamp Club was the only luncheon club in Salem High school. A luncheon club differs from the regular club in that it is held during lunch hour and each member brings his lunch.

During this year, besides sponsoring various contests and exhibits, for which prizes were issued, the members of the club participated in stamp auctions.

One of the interesting contests during the year was the Vermont Commemorative Stamp. The first prize went to Ben Ware; second, Edward Cobb; third, Robert Mitchell. Mr. A. V. Henning, an ardent stamp collector, served as judge.

Another contest which proved to be interesting was an exhibit, first prize being shared by Jack Rance, exhibiting United States defense issues, and Ben Ware, with an exhibit of Spanish stamps.

The aim of the club is to gain knowledge through the study of stamps and provide an interesting hobby.

STAMP CLUB

Paul Evans, Ed Cobb and Bob Mitchell, Stamp club officers, look over their collections.

First row: Hoover, Mitchell, Evans, Cobb, Gardiner, Rance. Second row: Mr. Sander, Ware, Shafer, Smit, Oana, Zeck.

Resolved: That the power of the federal government should be increased. This was the question argued by high school, college, and university debate teams all over the country this season, and the Salem High school debate squad was no exception.

The debate team, coached by Mr. J. C. Guiler, consisted of Mary Ciricosta, Herbert Hansell, Elliott Hansell, Karl Theiss, and several alternates. Herbert Hansell was the only regular speaker returning from last year's squad.

DEBATE TEAM

For the first time, the Salem High debate team used the tournament system. Early in the year the squad, coached by Mr. Guiler, worked out speeches and then several practice debates were held. The first major tournament of the year was held at Canton McKinley high school. The team was awarded a total of six victories, and three defeats in an all-day program of debating.

The Salem High school Debate team was a member of the Ohio High School Speech League, and attended the annual meeting of the league at Ohio State, Columbus, Ohio, December 6th and 7th.

They tied the Ravenna squad for third place, Salem winning four out of seven matches.

The squad will lose Elliott Hansel, negative speaker, and Karl Theiss, affirmative speaker, due to graduation.

Mr. Guiler and Herbert Hansell make plans for Herb's speech at the next debate.

First row: Mr. Guiler, Ciricosta, Frederick, Brown, Sinsley. Second row: Mullins, H. Hansell, E. Hansell, Theiss, Gross.

Performing before a competely filled auditorium on both nights, the Junior Class presented "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair" on the high school stage, March 20, 21.

The play, dealing with the life of America's well-known and well-loved composer, Stephen Foster, was an outstanding success not only for the class itself, which sold practically every available seat for both performances, but also for Miss Viola Bodo, Salem High dramatics director, who wrote and directed the play.

The cast was as follows: Stephen Foster, Donald Rice; Jane McDowell, called Jeannie and the sorce of much of Foster's confidence and inspiration, Mary Lou Cope; Mr. and Mrs. Foster, William Dunlap and Donna Haessley; William Foster, Jr., Stephen's very dignified older brother, Ben Ware; Susan Pentland, town belle with whom Stephen first fell in love, Jean Carey; Andrew Robinson, Wayne Steffel; Mr. and Mrs. McDowell, Sidney Simon and Sara Knepper; Joe and

JUNIOR PLAY

Lois Hoover tells Howard Krauss what it's all about—the junior play.

Mandy, the Foster's two negro servants, Howard Krauss and Lois Hoover.

In the play many of Foster's famous songs were sung by Donald Rice, Miss Haessley and Miss Cope.

The action of the play, laid in the Foster home in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, took place over a period of two years. Student director for the production was Joyce Malloy.

Seated: Carey, Rice, Cope, Ware, Haessly. Standing: Steffel, Malloy, Knepper, Simon, Hoover, Krauss, Dunlap, Miss Bodo.

THESPIAN CLUB

Under the effective and well-managed leadership of Stage Manager, Lucia Sharp and adviser, Miss Viola Bodo, troupe No. 358 of the National Thespian Dramatic Honor Society of Salem High school completed an interesting year, buzzing with activity. Prompter, Nan Beardmore; secretary-treasurer, Robert Ballantine; and sergent-at-arms, Vivian Foltz also helped to make the club run smoothly.

Winning a certificate of excellence at the drama festival at Kent, November 22, 23, was "Last Curtain," representing the Salem Thespians. The cast included Herbert Hansell, Lee Donofrio, Jan Wallace, William Dunlap, Mary Lou Brian, and Charles Lind. Lee Donofrio was given a place on the all-regional cast composed of six members from the seventeen schools attending, and Charles Lind received honorable mention.

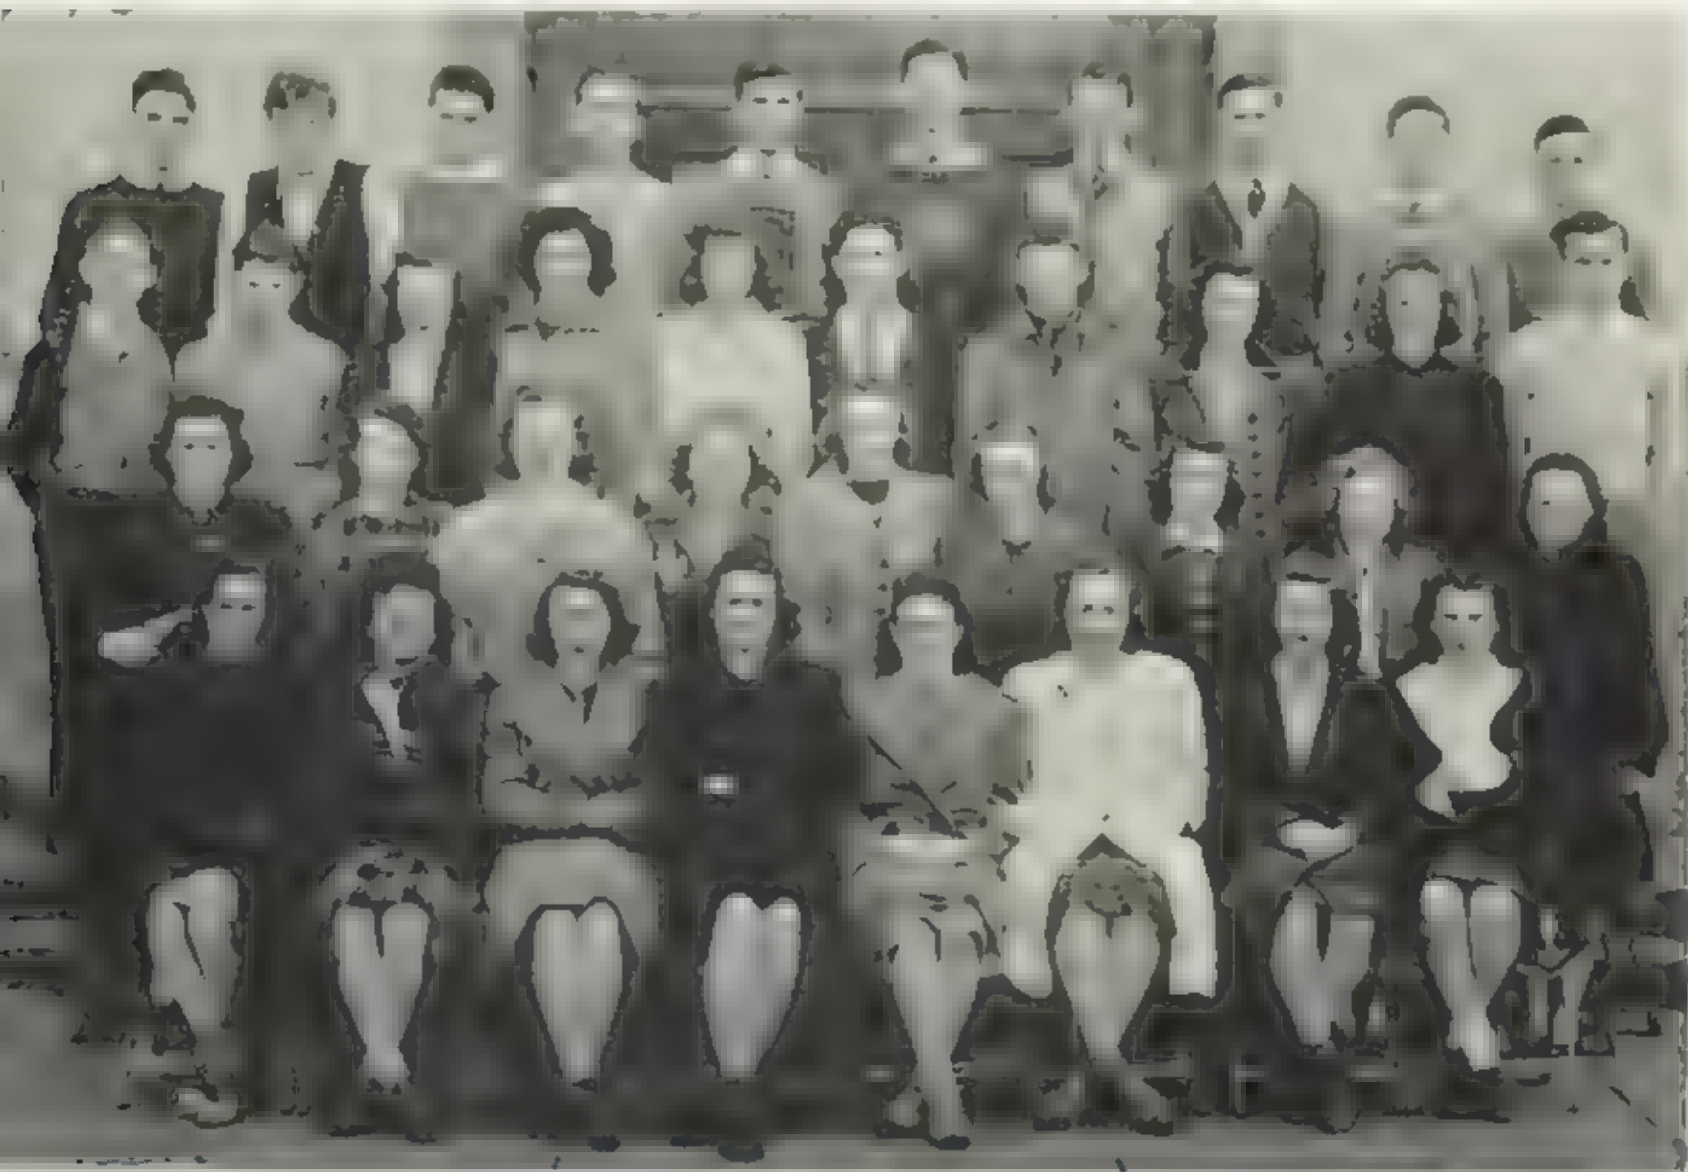

Several one-act plays were presented by the Thespian troupe to various clubs and church organizations around the town. These included "The Bear," a Russian comedy; "The Villain Foiled Again" bringing the old time "mellerdrammer" to life; and "Swept Clean off her Feet," a modern sling-slangy story of a carpet-sweeper salesman.

Awards were presented at recognition assembly to the three Thespians most deserving of an honor for their services as an actress, an actor, and a stage-manager.

Miss Bodo, club adviser illustrates the best way to faint to Nannabel Beardmore during senior play practice.

First row: White, DeRienzo, Beardmore, Sharp, Hiltbrand, Hannay, Alexander, Carey. Second row: Malloy, Foltz, Gibson, Hoover, Clark, Stratton, Yates, Lynch, Miss Bodo. Third row: Raymond, Greene, Percival, Marjorie Braun, Mary Lou Brian, Steffel, Ballantine, Lockhart, Hiesely, Lind. Fourth row: Steffel, Tinsley, Moore, Vansickle, Hansell, Simon, Linn, Myers, Dunlap, Ware.

The Camera Club was organized on November 21, 1940, by Mr. Ted Keller.

The officers elected include president, Sidney Simon; vice president, Eugene Myers; secretary, Christine Schell; treasurer, Jean Carey.

The club uses room 101 for a dark room for the printing and developing of pictures. The club studied the kinds of cameras and their limitations; discussed the workings of a camera: its shutter, the symbols of various speeds, the lens, focal distances, etc., and demonstrated the tinting of photographs in oil and in water color.

CAMERA CLUB

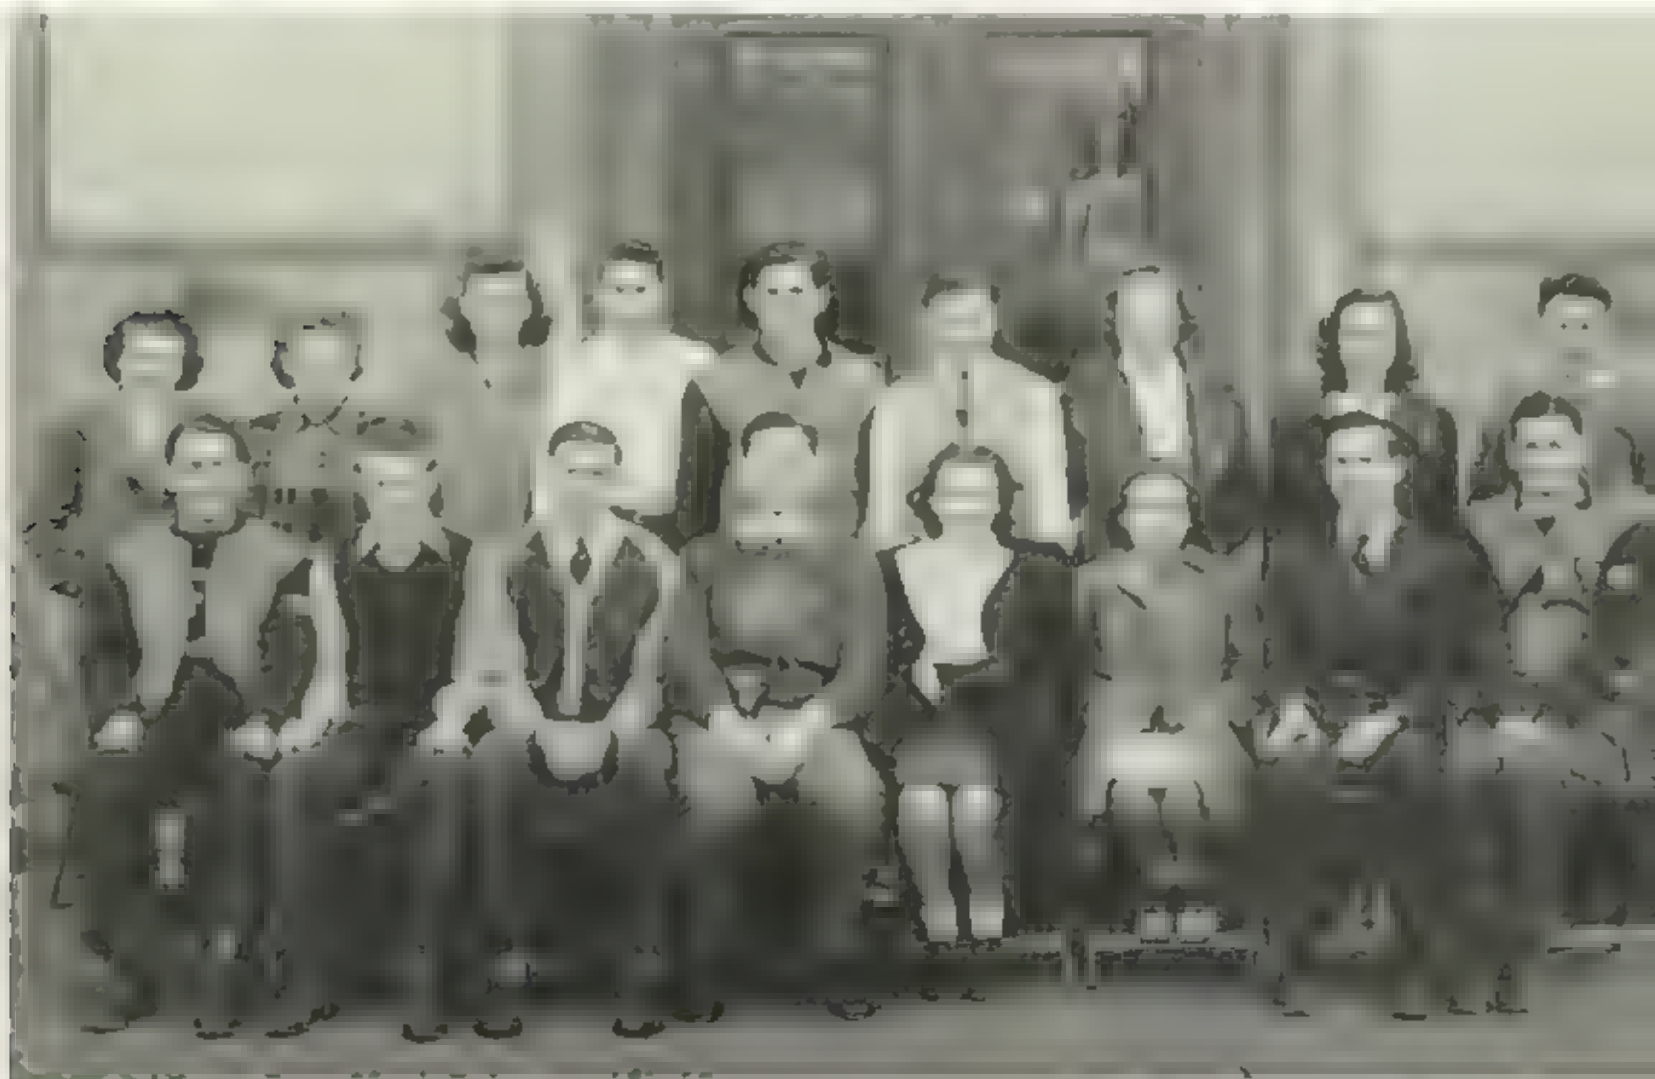

To become a member, one must be voted in by the members and own a camera. At an initiation ceremony April 17, Dan Rear don, Ralph Waldon, Fred Krauss and Bob de Malignon were taken into the club.

The club sponsored a snapshot contest in the spring. June Wolford won first prize for a basketball picture, shown on page fifty one. Second prize went to Eugene Myers for his snapshot of Dorothy Greene, George Lozier, and Gloria Gibson, which is on page sixty-seven. Pictures were judged on sharpness of details, lights and shadows, background and whether posed or unposed.

Club members also helped in getting snapshots for the annual. Altogether this has been a busy year for the club.

Fred Krauss, Mr. Keller (back showing) June Wolford and Christine Schell enjoy the club initiation.

First row: Berger, De Malignon, Myers, Simon, Carey, Schell, Mr. Keller, Colian. Second row: Hillman, Paxson, Myers, McNicol, Field, Waldron, Wolford, Blac, Woods.

The library is considered to be one of the most attractive and well-equipped rooms in Salem High school. Not only is it a pleasant reading room for students and teachers, but it is a source of material for scholastic and extra-curricular activities. The library has almost forty-two hundred books, an increase of two hundred over last year. There are also many magazines and pamphlets available.

The lighted library display case, located in the hall outside of the library, has created a great deal of interest throughout the year. It is used not only by the library, but by other departments, clubs and classes.

LIBRARY CLUB

A new system was introduced into the library this year. A student now receives a library slip from Miss Lois Lehman, the librarian, as he enters the library rather than from his assignment teacher. This privilege of voluntary attendance has encouraged more students to use the library during study periods. The total number of students using the library averages four hundred daily, excluding those coming in at noon and after school.

Student librarians check books, assist students, and help to keep the library in smooth-running order. Honor-roll students, the librarians are usually chosen when freshmen and work for four years. Two members of the library staff, Anne Belan and Alice Hunter graduate this year.

Sally Strank and Alice Kuntewicz, two school librarians, check out a book to Bob De Malignen.

Seated: Keister, Janicky, Kastenhuber, Hanna, Gross, McArtor, Miss Lehman. Standing: Getz, Galchick, Lutsch, Strank, Hart, King, Kuntewicz, Lutch, Chappell, Ellis, D. Worth, Pattorf, Owens, Jones, Hunter.

"Welcome sweet
greet thee in song"

Coach Herbert Brown of the Salem High Quakers is snapped outside the building.

The Salem High basketball record from a won and lost standpoint was not so impressive in the eyes of the fans, but Coach Herbert Brown was not worried because his plans for next year's squad are turning out fine.

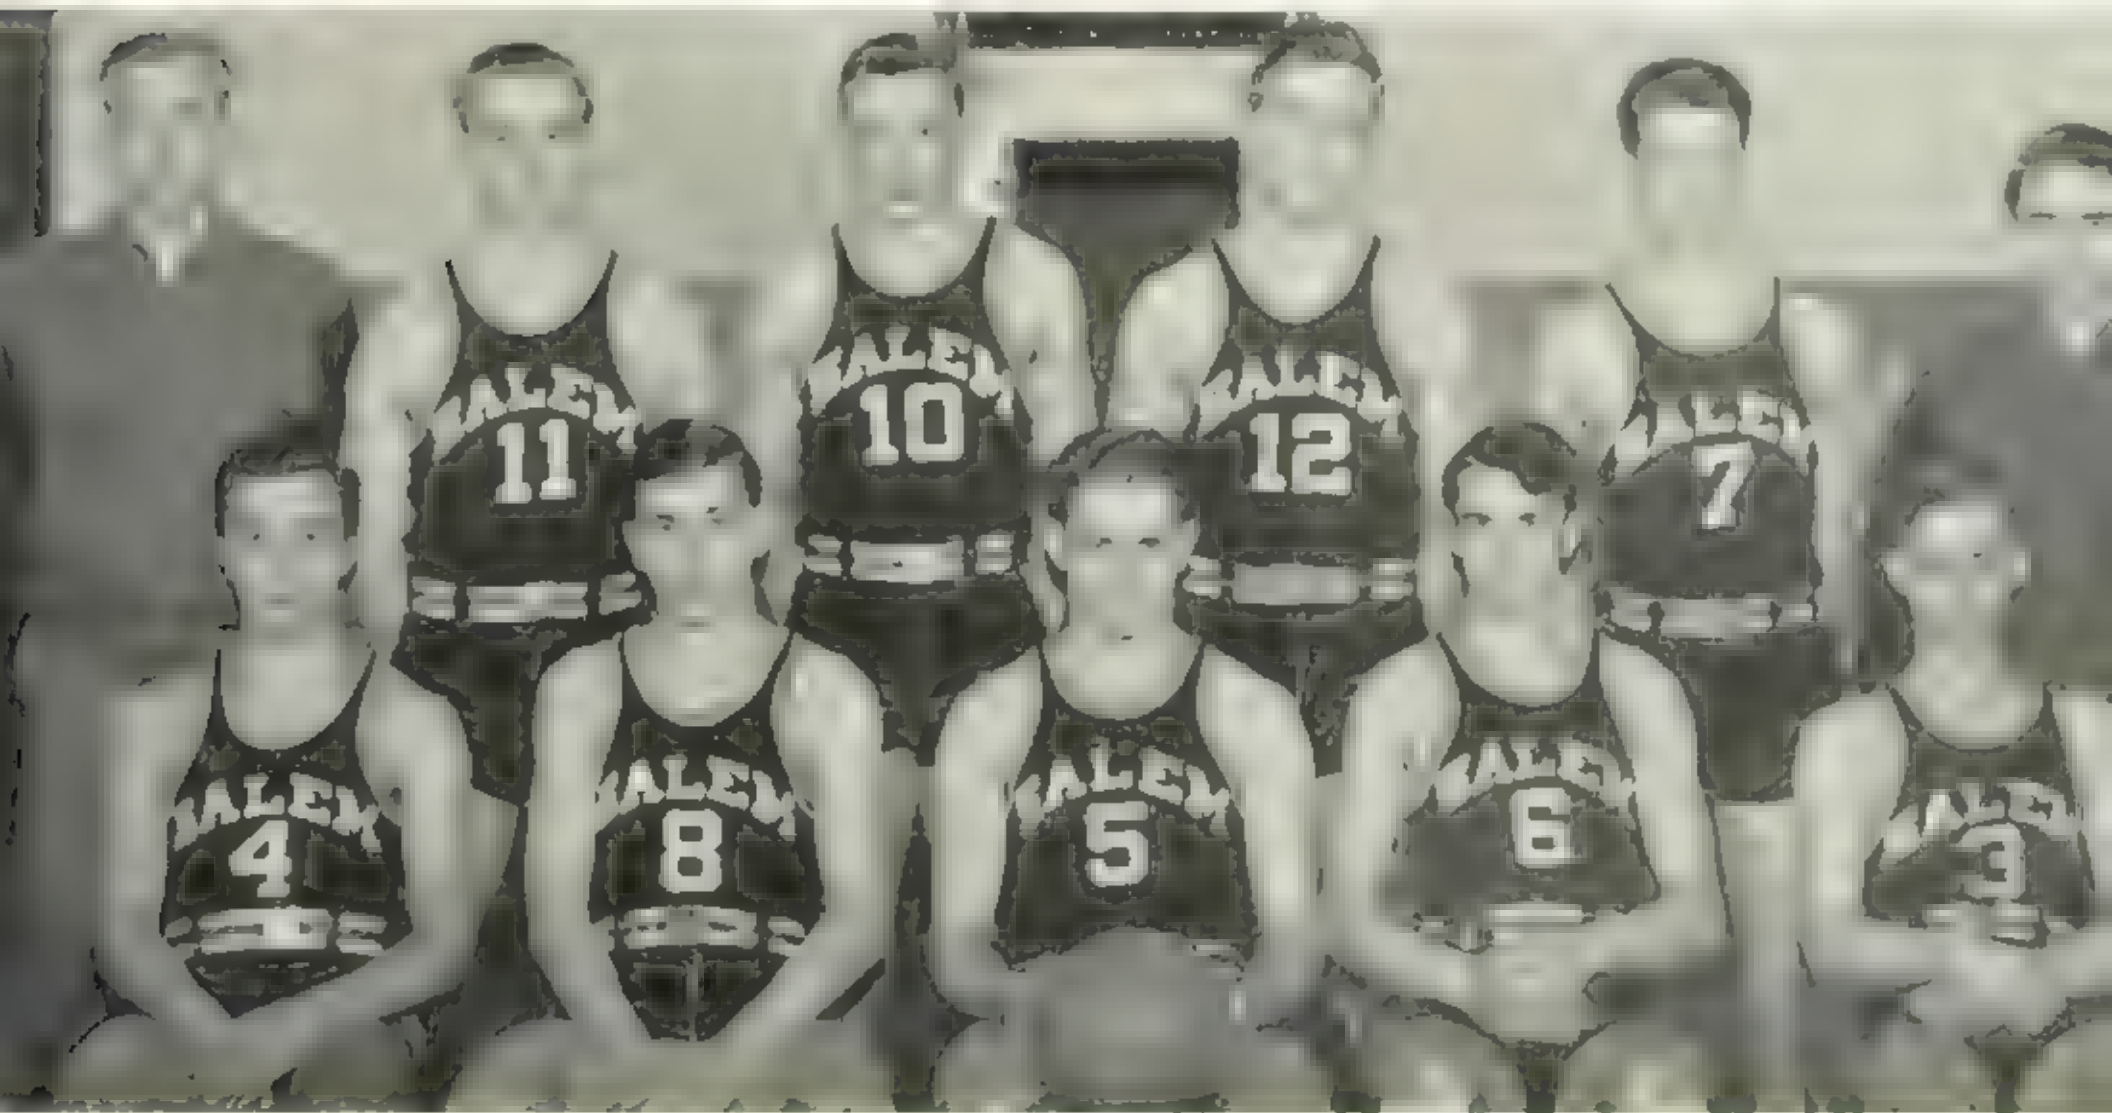

Early in the season he used a line-up composed of juniors and seniors, this meeting with very little success. Finally, towards the end of the year, Brown experimented with an all-junior team, composed of Ray McGaffie, long shot artist, Salvadore Guappone, ball handling supreme, Phil Cozad, pivot man, Bob Scullion and Johnny Volio, two aggressive team players.

High point man of team was McGaffie, who hit the loop for 118 points during the season. Cozad, in second slot, finished behind McGaffie, 60 points, Baillie, Jaeger and Thomas tallied 56 apiece.

VARSITY

The Quakers opened their campaign with a 32-12 win over a weak Youngstown Chaney five. Going to Lisbon the next night, the Brownmen were surprised by the inspired Blue Devils and were defeated 28-18. After losing to Niles, 35-26, the locals scored a win over a good alumni team. A trip to Coshocton and Cambridge proved disastrous for the home boys as they lost two more. Alliance downed them 44-32. The next four games were lost to Warren, Youngstown South, Dover, and East Liverpool, all by sizable margins.

First row: Volio, Guappone, Scullion, Buckman, McGaffie, Second row: Mr. Brown, Thomas, Cozad, Baillie, Umberger, Rance (manager).

A win over Wellsville, 38-35, broke the string of losses and served as a debut for the all-junior team. The Quakers then defeated East Palestine, but were defeated, 31-24, by Akron West.

Triumphs over Struthers, in an overtime battle, and Sebring brought an end to the regular season. In the sectional tourney in Youngstown the Quakers were defeated by Alliance, 35-32, in their first game. Baillie, Jeager, Umberger and Thomas will graduate in June, but the five juniors will all be back again.

The four seniors did not see much action due to the success of the juniors, but they will be missed when the next season rolls around. Coach Brown hopes to have the five juniors back next year, plus several promising prospects from the reserve squad.

The juniors, who will be the nucleus of the 1941-42 season, showed considerable promise in the year's late games.

Sparked by Carl Capel, who scored 107 points to lead the team in scoring, the Salem reserves, coached by Ted Jones, compiled a record of 11 wins and 6 losses. Although losing Salvador Guappone to the varsity early in the season, the Quaker reserves played a good brand of ball.

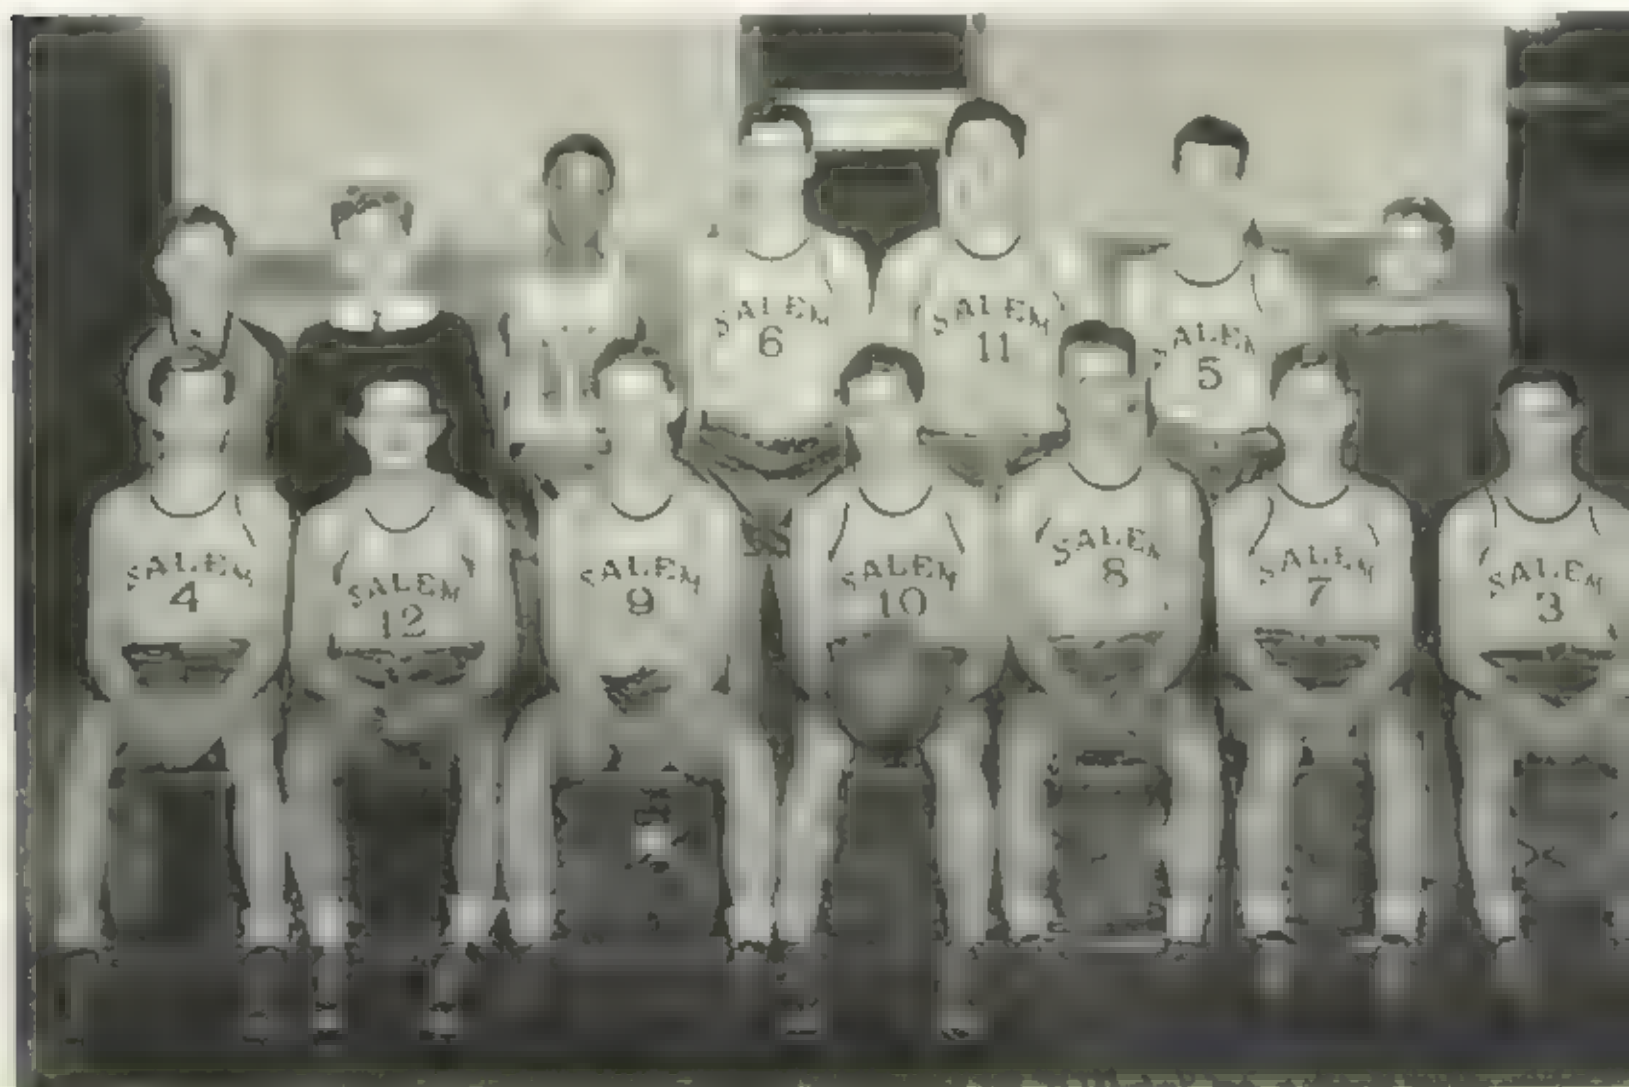

Though Capel was the season's high point man, he was not the only scoring threat. Also high in point scoring was Larry Frost and Bob Ruffing, who rimmed 85 and 79 points respectively. Upholding these three were Dick Culberson, Bob Buckman, Walt Miller and Ed Fisher, all of whom saw considerable action this season.

The reserves started the season with a bang, taking the first three opponents with ease. Their victims were Chaney, Lisbon and Alliance. They ran into trouble when they met Fairfield and were defeated, 20-16. The Quakers then gained triumphs over Niles, Augusta and Rayen before being stopped by a tough Warren squad. Resuming their victory march, they downed Youngstown South but were outclassed by Dover. Wins over East Liverpool, Wellsville, East Palestine and the Hi-Y followed in order; but Salem reserves dropped the last three games on the slate to Struthers, Sebring and the Hi-Y to wind up the season with 11 wins out of 17 starts.

The reserve team, which included several juniors, shows signs of becoming good varsity material in future seasons. With some good material coming up from Junior High, it is prophesied that future reserve squads will also be good. Good reserve teams indicate good future varsities.

To promote social affairs and enlarge upon the idea of good sportsmanship in athletics is the aim of Salem High School's Varsity S Club.

In 1937 the Varsity S was organized, and since then it has been one of the most successful clubs in Salem High School.

At the beginning of the year the students in the club elected Marvin Wukotich president of the Varsity S; Bob Umberger, treasurer; and Carroll Greene, secretary.

On April 25, the club staged its annual benefit dance in the High School gymnasium. Alf Bottomly's orchestra furnished the music. The gymnasium was decorated in red and black, which are the club's colors. All students who attended the dance reported it to be a definite success. Mr. Herbert Brown, basketball coach and adviser of the club, is largely responsible for this success.

On March 17 the club held a skating party at Salem Skateland for students of Salem High school. This also proved to be successful.

Boys who have earned Varsity letters in football, basketball, track, or cross country are eligible to join the club.

Two initiations were held this year. Three new members were initiated last fall and nine boys were initiated this spring.

Varsity S Club

Three club members, Art Horning, Bob Umberger and Bob Ritchie, show off their Varsity S jackets.

First row: Hansell, Marvin Wukotich, Baillie, Krepps, Umberger, Melvin Wukotich, Di Antonio, Scullion. Second row: Mr. Brown, Nocera, Ruffing, Rhodes, Jaeger, Horning, Zeller, Chappell. Third row: Volio, McGaffie, Spence, King, Thomas, Ritchie, Rance.

The Girls' Athletic Association, which boasts of a membership of sixty, offers the girls of Salem High school an opportunity to participate in various recreational activities.

With the prospect of earning a letter, to spur them on, these feminine sports' lovers participated in volleyball, baseball, kickball and basketball. By taking part in these, and outside sports such as tennis, skating, bicycling, and hiking, the girls receive 1,000 credits which entitle them to a G. A. A. letter. After obtaining the letter, any member may acquire numerals by earning 300 additional points.

Due to the great desire for bowling, there was a Girls' Athletic Association bowling league formed, in which twenty of the members took part every Saturday night.

Representatives of Salem's G. A. A. attended Basketball Playday held in March at Leetonia, and the Salem club was host to a volleyball Playday which was held in April. The schools sending representatives to these Playdays were Sebring, Leetonia, Fairfield, Columbiana, and Lisbon.

The club enjoyed many social activities during the school year. Among these were the covered dish dinner and initiation which was held in the fall, and the annual club picnic in the spring.

The Girls' Athletic Association is supervised by Miss Sara Hanna. Its officers are: President, Alice Sabona; vice president, Mary Stiffler; secretary, Donna Rice, and treasurer, Eva Vissera.

Becoming more and more popular in Salem High school and completing its second year, Three Feathers, Archery Club, now has an enrollment of thirty members.

At the beginning of the year these members elected Sidney Simon to lead them as president; Ray Corrigan, vice-president; Joyce Somerville, secretary; and Louise Bush, treasurer.

On January 21 a farewell party was held by the club for Mr. Karl Sander, who served with Mr. John P. Olloman as a club adviser and left Salem High school the second semester to teach at Niles Junior High school.

ARCHERY CLUB

In the fall and spring, when the weather permitted, the Three Feathers held target practice at Reilly Stadium and went on roving trips. In the winter they practiced in the gym.

Last fall a weiner roast was held at the Girl Scout reservation where members took part in shooting the "buck" a bag of leaves swinging from the branch of a tree. All who attended the weiner roast reported it to be a definite success.

In addition to the weekly target practice, business meetings were held every Tuesday the first semester and every other Tuesday the second semester. At several of these meetings talks on the history and terminology of archery were given. A requirement was set up and each who passed it was given an archery letter.

Ruth Hoobler and Eleanor Schultz practice shooting their bows and arrows outside the school.

First row: Krepps, Lockhart, Dunn, Stewart, Somerville, Hooper, Dilworth, Ellis. Second row: Mr. Olloman, Mr. Jones, Wolford, Schultz, Bush, Fawcett, Mr. Sander. Third row: Coy, Hannay, Corrigan, Trisler, Simon, McGonigler, Wright, Shoop.

Once more Salem High tracksters filled a complete track season under Coaches Frederick E. Cope and R. B. Clarke. The team failed to measure up to the standards of past squads. When the season opened Cope had seven lettermen back and prospects for a good season were bright. Bob Scullion, shot putter and hurdler, dropped out to work, while two others were unable to help much for the same reason.

Three tune-up meets preceded the twelfth annual Night Relays on May 3, and these helped to get the team in shape for the classic. Jesse Owens, world famous athlete, drew a large crowd to watch him perform at the relays.

Again the district meet, in which the boys who placed first, second or third qualify for the state meet, was held in Salem.

The thirty-seventh annual county meet was held in East Palestine May 9. The season ended with the state meet held on May 23-24.

Aside from the regular meets, Elliott Hansell, dash man, Eugene Myers, discus heaver, and Tom Rhodes, pole vaulter, competed in the Mansfield Relays. Hansell placed fourth in the 220, and Myers placed fourth in the discus. Rhodes failed to qualify for finals in the pole vault. Points garnered by Hansell and Myers gained Salem fifteenth place out of 93 teams.

Those who gave good performances during the season are Art Horning, Walter Kinn, Bob Ruffing, Felix Di Antonio, Carrie Wright, Bob Jaeger, Bill Martin, Phil Cozad, Ed Cobb, Bill Beardmore, Frank Hagan, Bill Shop, Gerald Bingham and Glenn Weigand.

TRACK TEAM

First row: Clatti, Wykoff, Fowler, Stratton, Ludwig, Kautz, Kance, Primm. Second row: Myers, Beardmore, McNeil, Snider, Shoop, Hansell, Horning, Krepps, Beck, Cobb. Third row: Rhodes, Bingham, Allison, Lutz, Quinn. Fourth row: Di Antonio, Kinn, Jaeger. Fifth row: Martin, Leslie, Lieder, Banar, Davis, Fawcett, Widmeyer. Sixth row: Cozad, Berger, Krauss, Klean, Ruffing, Bolinger, Weigand, Mr. Cope. Seventh row: Hagan, Ward, Wright, Jaeger, Wiggers, Volaw, Nocera.

Intramural golf is the only sport in the school which is open to both girls and boys. The reason for this is that golf is not as strenuous as the other major sports. The school does not have a schedule to play with the other schools in the district, but it keeps the sport on an intramural basis. The sport is one which commands skill, sportsmanship and respect for the opponent. It is not designed as a sport to be forgotten as soon as one graduates but as a sport which has a great carry-over value in later life. The game has been taken up on this basis by hundreds of high schools throughout the nation.

GOLF TEAM

The game has been described as an ideal game for the athletically "illiterate," who do not think themselves robust enough to go in for any other game. It is a sport which has health value to those who play it. It is played by the rich, the poor, the strong, the weak. According to experts on such matters, golf is very helpful in one's social and business relations and the game has a lasting value simply because there is no age limit at all. In football or basketball, a person cannot play the game at the age of 50 as he did when he was in high school, but in golf a person usually improves as he goes along. This is a definite advantage. An excellent system of handicapping makes the game interesting to men of different degrees of skill. The nature of the game is such that it performs a definite function in character building and character analysis. Each year in Salem High, however, a tournament is held to discover the player's skill, and although some are better than others, a keen spirit of competition is present. Ted Jones was again golf instructor.

Enjoying another successful year, the band under the direction of C. M. Braughtigam, was an important feature in the Salem High "set up."

They elected Alex Simion, president; Lea Bennett, vice-president; Vivian Foltz, secretary-treasurer; Maybelle Huston, librarian. The band, consisting of 70 members, made its services recognized throughout the school year.

The first duties of the band, after the election of officers, was playing for the football games, and heading several parades. Next, by sponsoring the annual Band Dance, January 3, 1941, the band not only made a tremendous social hit, but the dance proved to be the most financially successful of any dance sponsored by the band.

BAND

The band will lose eight musicians due to graduation. They are Lea Bennett, Wade Broomall, Vivian Foltz, Robert Jaeger, William Kerr, Lucille Scheuring, Robert Schuck, and Alex Simion and William Fineran and Donald Freed, two capable drum majors.

The band sent representatives to the eastern district solo and ensemble contest, held in Steubenville this year on March 22, and the state music contest in Columbus, May 1.

A patriotic theme was followed at the annual spring Band Concert, held in the High School auditorium, April 24.

Directed by Mrs. Janice Satterthwaite, the Salem High school orchestra advances farther each year in developing a completely balanced organization. This year, with nine violins, three clarinets, three trumpets, two trombones, one cello, a viola, double bass, flute, bassoon, bells and a piano, the group completed a very creditable year of activities.

The orchestra furnished music for both performances of the junior play, participated in May Music Week concert, presented programs for several banquets and civic organizations throughout the city during the year, and also played at baccalaureate and commencement exercises.

Several orchestra members also participated in the instrumental division of solo and ensemble contest. They are Robert King, violin; Maybelle Huston, clarinet; Paul Evans, cello; Robert Jaeger, trombone; Lea Bennett, trombone.

The orchestra is composed of the following students: Paul Evans, Virginia Hanna, Pricilla Beery, Margaret Ann Jones, Esther Lewis, Eleanor Stewart, Lea Bennett, Joyce Berk, Robert King, Dora Laughlin, Doris Lance, Cleo Santee, William Campf, Ken Groner, Warren Helm, Martin Juhn, Charles Myers, Howard Null, George Bornirnea, Dick Stone, Lois Myers, Bob Jaeger, Maybelle Huston, Mary Klepinger and Deborah Beery.

Dick Stone, Joyce Berk and Lois Myers, practice of the orchestra selection.

Seated: Bennett, Jaeger, Huston, Bornirnea, D. Beery, Null, Evans, Berk, Santee, King, Percival, Laughlin, Lance, Stewart. Standing: Lewis, Jones, Myers, Stone, Mrs. Satterthwaite, Juhn, Haessly, Helm, Myers, Groner, P. Beery, Hanna.

The Girls' Glee Club played a very active part in the school music program this year and presented a number of very excellent programs, led by Mrs. Janice Satterthwaite. The girls appeared before the Travelers' Club early in March, sang in the Music Week concert in May and participated in commencement and baccalaureate exercises.

Members of the club who entered the vocal solo and ensemble events were Donna Haessley, mezzo-soprano; Deborah Beery, coloratura soprano; Alice Ruth Vincent, contralto.

The officers of the Girls' Glee Club are: President, Donna Haessley; vice-president, Cleo Santee, who is accompanist for the group; secretary - treasurer, Mary Lou Cope.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Following is a list of the members of the club: Deborah Beery, Priscilla Beery, Dorothy Bishop, Barbara Blackburn, Mary Ciricosta, Mary Lou Cope, Marie Coleson, Jean Dixson, Justina Enders, Betty Merry, Lois Myers, Marion Nye, Cleo Santee, Jane Stamp, Martha Jane Strang, Alice Ruth Vincent, Dolores Weichman and Dorothy Dunlap.

The meetings were held in the music room every Monday after school. Because of the cooperation of the club members and the boundless energy of their supervisor, the Girls' Glee Club well deserves to be listed among those clubs which are considered a permanent part of the extra-curricular activities.

Cleo Santee accompanies Donna Haessley of the Glee Club as Donna practices for solo contest.

First row: Getz, Haessley, Ciricosta, Gardiner, Knepper, Bishop, Hanna, Klepinger, Stirling. Second row: Merry, D. Beery, P. Beery, Stamp, Coulson, Ellison, Boughton, Dixon, Vincent, Mrs. Satterthwaite. Third row: McArthur, Hollinger, Myers, Cosgarea, Cope, Weichman, Kna, Santee, Woolf.

Under the supervision of Mr. John Paul Olloman the Boys' Glee Club completed a very successful year. The club elected Alex Simion, president; Andrew Strank, vice-president; Andrew Chitia, treasurer; Herbert McCave, librarian.

There were twenty-one boys enrolled in the club. Their first appearance was on the Christmas assembly program held December 20 in the high school auditorium. Wearing robes and carrying lighted candles, the boys walked up the aisles to the stage singing "Silent Night," by Franz Gruber. Other selections on the program included "Joy to the World," by Handel, and "Funiculi Funicula," by Denza.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

On March 18, members of the club sang for the Salem Travelers' Club at the Salem Public Library. The program included "Annie Laurie," by the chorus, with a solo by Alex Simion; "A Merry Life," "Sweet and Low," "America the Beautiful," and a novelty number entitled "Goodby, My Lover, Goodby."

Andrew Strank, Don Rice, and Gale Bartchy journeyed to Steubenville to take part in the district contest held on March 22. Strank and Bartchy were chosen alternates for the state contest held at Columbus on May 1 and 2.

In the spring the club held an assembly in the auditorium for the high school students.

Meetings were held every Thursday afternoon at 3:20.

To make the club successful this year each boy contributed his individual share in the form of solos and reports on the various phases of music.

Margaret Carr was piano accompanist for the club this year.

First row: Taflan, Chitia, Haessly, Ehrhart, Kautz, Loutzenheiser. Second row: Mr. Olloman, Simion, Fineran, Coy, Knauss, Strank, Carr. Third row: Dan, Muga, Rice, Schneider, Fridon, Bartchy, Cone, Freed.

Due to the cooperation of the school's athletic department, Salem High's tennis squad was allowed to carry its heaviest schedule in history. This year, Coach Loren Early picked his most promising prospects and devoted time to developing them for the tough schedule. He was fortunate in having four lettermen to work with this year. They were George Baillie, Gale Stewart, Carl Capel and Bob Ritchie.

The squad joined the Mahoning Valley Tennis league, which is composed of some of the toughest tennis teams in the state, plus Sharon of Pennsylvania. In addition to the matched play against the other teams in the league, the Quaker racqueteers met Sebring, Alliance, Lisbon, Newark and Martins Ferry. Those teams in the Mahoning Valley league were Youngstown East, Chaney, South, Ursiline, Rayen, Sharon, Warren, and Struthers.

To give the readers an idea of how tough this league was bend an ear and hear the details. A doubles team from Rayen copped the state championship last year; Warren, which defeated the Quakers in 1940, overwhelmingly, had six lettermen back; and Youngstown South had back Bob Thompson, former Salem youth who is regarded as one of the best singles men in the state.

Candidates for the '41 squad were George Baillie, Walter Boliner, Carl Capel, Phil Cozad, Val Moga, Sam Pridon, Bob Ritchie, Gale Stewart and Ed Zatco. Only three of these men will return next year as the remaining ones graduate in June. Capel, Ritchie and Cozad will form the nucleus of the 1942 squad. Thus we ring down the curtain on the tennis scene of 1941.

TENNIS TEAM

First row: Cozad, Stewart, Capel, Baillie. Second row: Bolinger, Ritchie, Mr. Early.

Starting at top and reading from left to right, top to bottom: Virginia Mayhew and Dorothy Lutsch wait for the bell at noon, and Dick Woods and Mr. Keller wait for the sun so they can take a picture. Three freshmen, Jim Primm, Jack Lance and Bill Benson get together; and Mary Ryers, Steve Hart, and Bob Moore listen in on a conversation. Jack Atkinson and Jack Ensley shake hands, and that couple, Nada Krepps and Bob Entziken leave at the close of school. Sidney Simon tops a few, and Dorothy Hart, Virginia Snyder, Mona Cahill, Betty Roessler and Dora Laughlin wait outside the school. Vivian Foltz does the drawing while Don Freed holds the box of tickets and two of our janitors, Mr. Smith and Mr. Le sure are snapped in the furnace room.

1941

One hundred and ninety-three students of Salem High School are looking back this spring. They remember the basketball and football games, school cheers, pep rallies, school songs and their first party. They see themselves as upperclassmen and the success of their first dramatic production, "Little Women." They have memories of the Prom and other parties they attended. They review the clubs they have belonged to, and last but not far from least they remember the teachers they have had and the things they learned from them, both in and out of class.

This year the seniors chose George Baillie, president; Louis Raymond, vice-president; and Florence England, secretary-treasurer.

The dramatic production "Lena Rivers," presented by the class on December 8 and 9, also proved to be a definite success.

And so not knowing what success or failure, happiness or heartbreak, the future may have in store for them, one hundred and ninety-three students bid a fond farewell to Salem High School.

Insert: senior class officers, Louis Raymond, George Baillie and Florence England. Reading from left to right: Fritz Schmid gives a greeting; Bob Umberger just barely gets himself in the picture. George Loz, Dorothy Greene and Gloria Gibson seem to be enjoying a good joke.

by

VIRGINIA MORROW

As we bring to a close our school days
And look to the future in doubt,
We wonder and try to conceive
Just what Life is about.

We think we know what's ahead
We consider our learning is done,
We think our knowledge completed,
Believing that Life is all fun.

As we find our opinions uncertain,
As we see the sky often gray,
We remember all that you warned of,
As we traversed your halls each day.

We'll forget about those who disgraced you,
Annoyed you, each with his whim;
We'll only remember the justice,
And loyalty you showed for them.

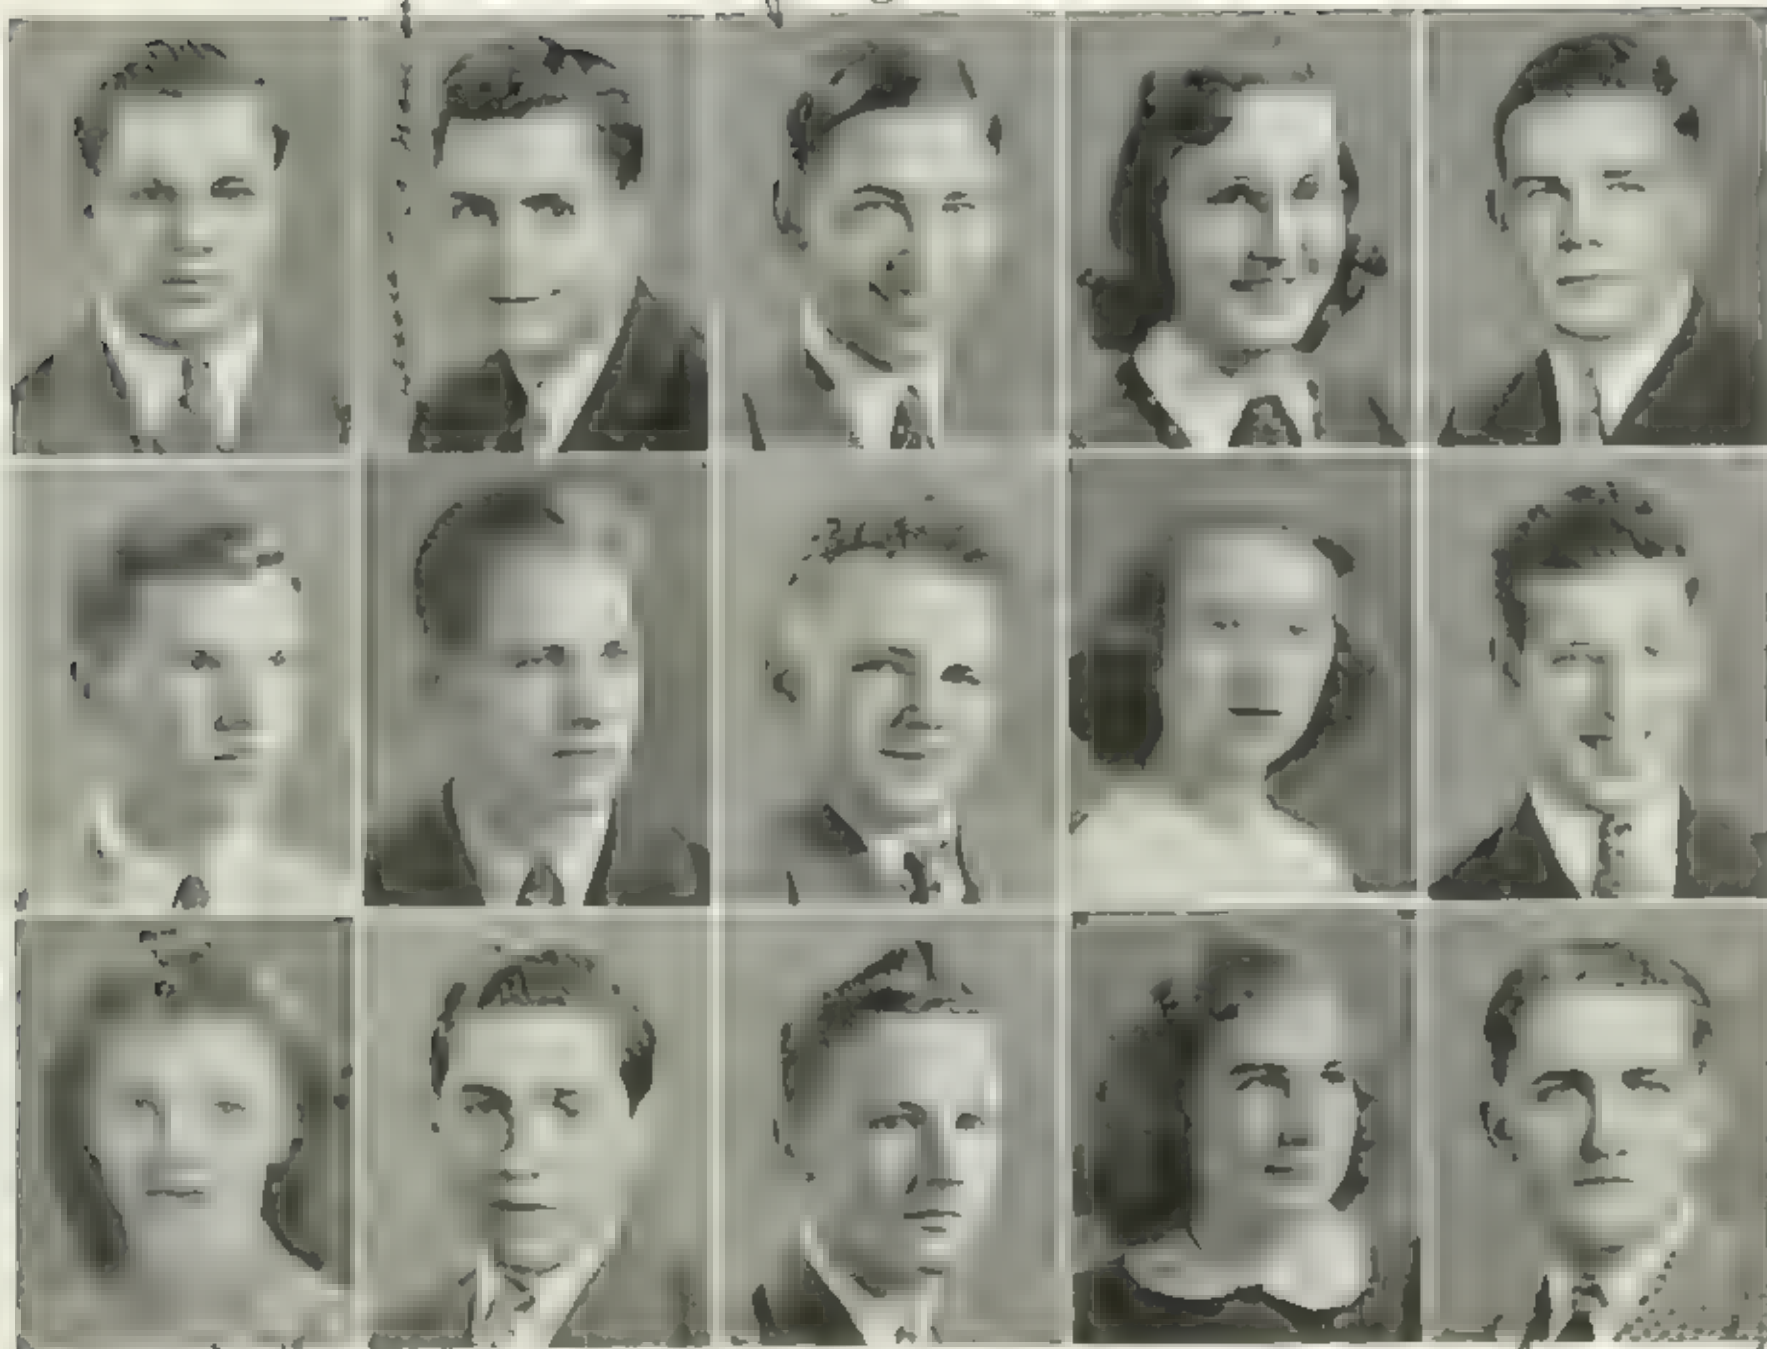

Is it not in the record Time,
On the pages of our school years,
How you shared in all of our problems,
In all of our troubles and tears?

And now on the threshold of Life
To see Education through,
May we recall, Alma Mater,
That all of it started with you.

Top, reading from left to right: Walter Bolinger, Arthur Horning and Warren Tullis seem to be discussing a weighty matter. John Dan snapped outside the school. Gloria Gibson again this time discussing something with George Baile. Buster Wekotch faces the camera and Bolinger, Elliott Hansell and George Steffel give us some funny faces. Bottom, left to right: Dick De Malignon and Gale Stewart seem to be doing some "foul" work, while Dorothy Snyder, Cleo Santee and Joyce Malloy are snapped around a monitor's chair.

Slats Entriken: How did that Scotchman fall out of the air express?

Carl Capel: His hat blew out the window and he went out to get it.

Herb Jones: What is ordinarily used as a conductor of electricity?

George Steffel: (all at sea)—Why-er-

Herb Jones: Wire. Correct! Now tell me what is the unit of electric power?

George Steffel: (still at sea) The what, sir?

Herb Jones—Exactly, the watt. Very good, that will do.

Miss Hart—Are you sure this composition is original?

Bill Mullins—Well, maybe you can find one or two of the words I used in the dictionary.

Tommy—Is that a lion or lioness, Papa?

Father—Which one, dear?

Tommy—The one with its face scratched, and the hair off its head.

Father—(With a sigh) That must be the lion.

This coffee is nothing but mud-water.

You're right, guy, it was ground this morning.

Joyce Stratton: Don't be prehistoric.

Mr. Olloman: Can you sing baritone?

Alex Simion: Sure, if I know the words.

Lefty Schmid: Were your parents surprised to hear of your graduation.

Sal Freed: No, they've been expecting it every year.

Louis Raymond: Where are you going with that telephone pole?

Gloria Gibson: I'm taking it home for a souvenir.

Louis: Souvenir of what?

Gloria: My first automobile wreck

Chuck Gibbs: Oh, Oh, I've cut off my finger.

Paul Evans: What makes you think that.

Chuck: I can't find it.

To The Graduates Of 1941

In the years since 1863, when this bank was chartered as the 43rd National Bank in the United States, our books have contained the names of successful members of each graduating class.

To these graduates an established connection with this bank has been most helpful.

Salem High School Graduates are always welcome.

The Leaders of Tomorrow

Are Among the Graduates of Today

In congratulating these young men and women, their families and their teachers, may we offer the reminder that banks, like schools, are dedicated to the ideals of community progress.

An account in Farmers National—in the Salem district's services since 1846—will help any graduate to go on to still greater success.

Bruce Hack: All my ancestors were fishermen. I'm at the end of the line.
Rolin Herron: Oh, I see, a worm.

Jackie Brown: I didn't send for a piano tuner.
Piano tuner: No, but the people next door did.

Bob Bichsel: (landing his plane in a tree) I was trying to make a new record.
Farmer: You did. You're the first man to climb down that tree before climbing up.

Mr. Guller: That's being rather lazy isn't it. You're not that lazy, Mr. Bloor. What would you invent.
Apple Bloor: Some thing to press the button.

Jan Wallace: Do you know that George proposed to me last night?
Lucia Sharp: Yes, doesn't he do it beautifully.

Ratn Sinsley: See that boy over there annoying Irene.
Johnny Bota: Annoying her? Why he isn't even looking at her.
Ruth: That's what's annoying her.

Ralph Waldron: Who's that fellow who seem's to know you?

Jean Carey: Only a second cousin once removed.

Ralph: Hmm. Well, he looks as if he wanted removing again.

John Dan: What I want to know is, am I a bass or a baritone?

Mr. Olloman: No you're not.

Soldier: How far is it to the camp?

Native: About five miles as the crow flies.

Soldier: Well how far is it if the crow has to walk and carry a rifle and kitbag.

Recruit: If you was to put the lid on, you wouldn't get so much dust in the soup.

Cook: See here, me lad, your business is to serve your country.

Recruit: Yes, but not to eat it.

Walt Kinn: I want a book for a high school boy.
Miss Lehman: How about Fielding?
Walt: I dunno. Got anything on base running.

Donna Haessly: I'm so happy I can't help breaking into song.
Homer Asmus: Why don't you get the key and then you won't have to break in.

Here, hold my horse a minute, will you.
Sir, I'm a member of Congress.
Never mind. You look honest. I'll take a chance.

Mary Byers: Did the play have a happy ending?
Virginia Snyder: You bet it did. Someone in the gallery hit the villain square in the face with a tomato.

Pat: My ancestors came over in the Mayflower.
Mike: It's lucky they did. The immigrant laws are a little stricter now.

ENDS THE QUEST FOR THE BEST

Eugene Myers: How do you tell the age of a turkey?

Art Horning: I can always tell by the teeth.

Eugene: By the teeth. But a turkey has no teeth.

Horning: No, but I have.

An Irishman mourning his wife remarked
She was a good woman. She always hit me with the soft end of the broom

Joyce Malloy: I hear Bill married an old flame.

Ray Corrigan: Yes, and she makes it pretty hot for him.

Why do you use such a long cigar holder?
asked Smith.

The doctor told me to keep away from tobacco, replied Jones.

Miss McCready: If a farmer sold 1,470 bushels of wheat at $3.17 a bushel, what would he get?

Chas. Lind: An automobile.

Phyllida—Sometimes you appear really manly and sometimes you are effeminate. How do you account for it.

Phillip—I suppose it's hereditary. Half of my ancestors were men and the other half women.

Mr. Ford—Do you use tooth paste?

Mr. Fordson—Gracious no. None of my teeth are loose.

Jeriy (receiving his Physics test Paper): What the deuce is that? The date or my grade?

Mr. Early: Euphemism is stating an unpleasant or delicate matter in softened terms. Now how would you say a friend of yours, who got into a fight received a black eye?

Bob Moore: Euphemistically speaking I would say that he was decorated for valor.

Miss Beardmore (in History class): After capturing Vera Cruz, Scott won a battle at Cerro Gordo and Jalapa, and then he took Contreras, Cherubusco and Chapultepec and finally—

Mable Hostetter: Don't go so fast. I'm losing my breath.

Sunday School Teacher: Every child who would like to go to Heaven some day, stand up. The whole class arose but little Bobby.
Teacher: Bobby, is it possible that you do not want to go to Heaven?
Bobby: Not with that bunch.

Are you laughing at me? demanded the irate professor of his class.
No, came the answer in chorus.
Well, insisted the Professor, what else is there to laugh at.

I witnessed a most brutal attack yesterday. Tell me about it.
The clock was striking the hour.

Alumnus: Professor, I have made some money and I want to do something for my old college. I don't remember what studies I excelled in, if any.

Professor: In my class you slept most of the time.

Alumnus: Uh! Well, I'll endow a dormitory.

He: Is good-night one word or two?

She: Oh-h-h-h.

He: Whaddya mean, 'Oh-h-h-h'?

Miss Miller: What do they do with the by-products of gasoline?

Tony Hoover: Take them to the nearest hospital.

Paul Evans: Do you think airplanes will take the place of automobiles?

Dick Chessman: Certainly not. How in the world are they going to park on a cloud?

Pete Leaf: How do you keep your pants from bagging at the knees?

Johnny Wilson: I walk backwards.

Elaine McGhee: This floor certainly is slippery tonight.

Terry: It's not the floor. I just had my shoes shined.

"Goose" McGaffie: Hey? What are you running for?

Apple Bloor: To stop a fight.

"Goose": Who's fighting?

Apple: Me and another fellow.

Gloria Gibson: How do they get the football players clean after a game in the mud and dirt?

Mr. Schroeder: That's what they've got the scrub team for.
